ROBINSON, MAYOR DISAGREE ON CITY CASH

Sewer, School Problems Top Issues

Voters Wonder About Future Of City Cash

Consolidation Plan Is Big Question Outside Circleville

Even though they do not appear on the ballot, Circleville's outdated sewer system and other problems linked to municipal revenue appear certain to play a major role in Tuesday's voting.

Meanwhile, as the voters also prepare to go to the polls outside Circleville, a proposal to consolidate Pickaway County's school districts loomed as the foremost question. The proposal has become the center of vigorous controversy in recent weeks.

In Circleville, Councilman John Robinson, Democrat, declared today that he joins Republican Mayor Bob Hedges in opposing an ordinance that would set up a city income tax here. Robinson is challenging Hedges' bid for re-election.

However, on other important phases of the city finance picture, the top mayoralty candidates are sharply opposed. Hedges denies the city treasury is in "desperate" straits, but Robinson declares it is rapidly heading in that direction.

THE POLLS Tuesday will open at 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m. The Herald will offer news on progress of the city races and top issues up to 10 p. m. Phone calls should be made to 580, 581 or 782.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, Jaycees and many other community groups have urged voters to cast their ballots. Free taxi service to the polls has been offered to the public. Those who want it should phone 900.

Only big issue for city voters to decide is whether Circleville firemen should have their work week reduced from 72 to 56 hours.

In addition to the school consolidation issue, several important questions will also face the voters outside Circleville. Top-most among these are:

1. A $135,000 school bond issue for Saltcreek Township.
2. A $150,000 school bond issue for Saltcreek Township. Both issues are intended to finance school building additions.
3. A local option (wet-or-dry) vote in Ashville.
4. Two county-wide levies, one for operating funds and the other for welfare purposes.
5. A 55 percent affirmative vote is necessary for passage of the school consolidation proposal. And if merger is approved, a 75 percent negative vote is required to (Continued On Page Two)

Herald To Keep Public In Touch

In line with its usual custom, The Herald will keep the public informed when the election picture begins to unfold Tuesday night.

Those interested in early progress of the city contests and some of the top local questions should phone The Herald at 580, 581 or 782. This service will be maintained between 7:30 p. m. and 10 p. m., at which time it is believed all of the city contests will be decided.

The Pickaway County Board of Elections has warned, however, that the final results on some of the foremost issues, and elections in the rural townships, cannot be tallied until late Tuesday night or Wednesday morning.

U.S. Employment At All-Time High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today employment rose last month to a new record for October of 65,161,000. It said unemployment, which usually declines in October, remained about the same at 2,131,000.

The Commerce Department said the number of breadwinners 25 years old or over reached an all-time peak of 55 millions.

Agricultural employment remained steady during the month at approximately 7,905,000, compared with 7,785,000 in September.

Benny Given Nod In Tax Dispute

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The U.S. Tax Court in Washington has ruled in favor of comedian Jack Benny in a 7-year-old tax case involving about $1 million.

The case involved a question of whether Benny should pay personal income taxes or capital gains tax on the 1948 sale of Amusement Enterprises, Inc., to the Columbia Broadcasting System for $2,260,000. Benny owned 60 per cent of the stock. The government contended that the comedian should pay personal income taxes at a rate of about 75 per cent.

2 Big Issues Top Interest In Ohio Vote

Proposal By CIO To Hike Jobless Pay Is Feature

COLUMBUS (AP)—Statewide interest in Ohio's "off-year" election tomorrow centers on two issues dropped in the lap of the electorate by the 101st General Assembly:

1. Shall the state issue $500 million worth of bonds to finance new mental and correctional institutions, education buildings and state offices?
2. Shall a proposed new law be put into effect lifting the ceiling on unemployment benefits by 50 per cent?

Two other state issues are on the ballot. Both propose to lift the Ohio Constitution's ban on salary changes during terms of office. One would apply to judges. The other would affect elected local and county officials and appointed state officers.

All 23 members of the new state board of education will be elected tomorrow, one from each of the state's congressional districts. Lengths of the terms to be served by those elected tomorrow will be determined by lot after the board organizes in January. After that, one-third of the board members will be elected every two years.

Mayors and many village and city councils will be named tomorrow along with municipal judges in some cities and other judges in some areas to fill vacancies. Many township posts also are to be filled.

SHARING the election spotlight in many localities will be local issues. More than 1,500 such issues are at stake. Most of them are on school matters—operating levies and building bond issues.

No organized opposition has appeared to the state bond issue proposal, but mental health and education (Continued on Page Two)

2 Children Left To Stray Along Highway

ELIZABETH, W. Va. (AP)—Sheriff Harry James went to juvenile welfare authorities in Columbus today with his story of two stray children he started back to their North Canton, Ohio, homes yesterday.

The two youngsters, 8-year-old Georgia Roberta Sunderman and her 4-year-old brother, Robert Lee, were found walking aimlessly up and down W. Va. 14 near here about noon Saturday.

Sheriff James and his wife took the waifs into their home, and managed, through considerable confusion, to get in touch with their mother, Mrs. Dorothy Sunderman in North Canton yesterday.

The sheriff quoted her that Ralph Hanshaw, a neighbor of the Sundermans, set out with the children Friday morning with the mother's permission, and the understanding he would take them to their grandmother's home in St. Mays, W. Va.

It was on the mother's authority that James returned the children to Hanshaw yesterday. At the same time, however, the sheriff made known his plans to get in touch with the Ohio juvenile welfare authorities today.

Hanshaw said James, blamed his brother for turning the children out of the car and leaving them in the highway. The sheriff reported the two youngsters willingly went with Hanshaw for the return trip to North Canton.

"There was nobody with Hanshaw when he came here and I don't know anything about his brother," Sheriff James said. He added he had accused Hanshaw of "drinking all night Friday, and he didn't deny it."

The test is based on the "optical density" or coloration of blood serum, as measured by a spectrophotometer. The report says the serum of cancer patients is lighter in color than normal, and that this difference is significant.

The three researchers report that in two series of 476 and 345 persons, the method met previously established standards for a method of diagnosing cancer. "The test's positivity," they assert, "in all stages of cancer was 90.1 per cent."

"The test of optical density is practical for mass screenings: It is inexpensive, rapid and easily mastered by technicians. The only special equipment needed is a spectrophotometer," they conclude.

The researchers report that since their article was written, the test has been applied to 3,500 persons through the cooperation of Youngstown industries and their employees, and that the results continue to be encouraging.

White and other members of Eisenhower's medical team met with newsmen after their latest exhaustive physical examinations of the 65-year-old President, who was stricken Sept. 24.

Ford To Sell Common Stock To Public For First Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock of the Ford Motor Co., which revolutionized America with its mass production methods, is to be sold to the public after the first of the year.

The price and precise timing have not yet been set, but nearly seven million new common shares with voting rights will be offered. Financial analysts say it is expected to bring up to $500 million, indicating a price of $60 to $70 a share.

Announcement that Ford, richest private business enterprise in the world, would desert the ranks of family-owned firms was made last night. It came from the Ford Foundation, multi-million-dollar philanthropic trust set up by Henry Ford, who died in 1947.

The new stock will be offered by the Ford Foundation, not by the company.

Henry Ford II, grandson of the founder and president of the Ford Co., has agreed with other Ford heirs to transfer 60 per cent of their exclusive voting control of the company to the new common stock, H. Rowan Gaither Jr., Foundation president, says.

The other 40 per cent of voting rights will remain with the Ford family.

With the public sale of its stock, the company will have to disclose for the first time its assets and earnings, one of its most carefully guarded secrets for 52½ years.

Only last Wednesday, Ernest R. Breech, Ford board chairman, declared the company's 1955 earnings, before taxes, would surpass the firm's total earnings for the 21 years before World War II. Neither figure was revealed, however.

Three new classes of Ford stock will be issued and, after stock splits, the company will have a total of 53,461,470 shares of stock. There are now outstanding 3,322,395 shares of no voting class A stock. These will be split 15 for 1.

There are now 172,645 shares of voting Class B stock, all held by members of the Ford family or their interests. These will be split 21 for 1.

The Ford Foundation, set up in 1936, holds 88 per cent of the non-voting A stock or 3,089,908 shares. The Ford family also owns 190,347 shares of A stock. The balance is held by 108 key employees of the company.

When the reorganization is complete, the only non-voting A common will be held by the Ford Foundation. As soon as any of this is offered for sale to the public, however, it is to be converted into voting common stock.

All the A stock held by the Ford family will be converted into shares of the new B stock. This would bring the total of B shares, all held by the family, to 6,480,750. Whenever any of these B shares are sold outside the family, they will be converted into new common stock with voting rights.

As long as there are 2,700,000 or more of these B shares, they will carry 40 per cent of the voting rights. Should the number fall below 2,700,000 the voting percentage will be reduced to 30 per cent. If they should fall below 1½ million shares, the new B stock would become equal to the common stock in voting power.

Cut In Arms Being Talked At Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles conferred today with disarmament expert Harold Stassen. He opened a drive to get Russian participation in measures designed to make a massive surprise attack by either America or the Soviet Union impossible.

As President Eisenhower's special adviser on disarmament, Stassen will participate with Dulles in the disarmament phase of Big Four conference talks later this week.

Dulles, it was learned, will tell Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that agreement on such measures, keyed to President Eisenhower's U. S.-Soviet aerial inspection plan, could be followed readily by other steps leading to worldwide arms reduction and control of atomic weapons.

Dulles is prepared to assure Molotov that while the United States considers aerial inspection an essential measure in preventing surprise attack, it is prepared to consider any other suggestions for action the Soviets may put forward.

Meanwhile, a committee of Big Four experts seeking agreement on the lowering of Iron Curtain barriers to develop East-West contacts have found the "Spirit of Geneva" wearing thin.

Authoritative sources say three days of secret negotiations between representatives of the Big Three Western Powers and the Soviet Union have failed to produce agreement on any major point.

Mother Drowns Saving 2 Tots

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A mother drowned but saved her children by holding their heads above water when they were trapped in a car that overturned in a canal yesterday.

The dead woman was Mrs. Hazel Wolin, 33. She and the children, Irene, 6, and Roy, 3, remained in the upside-down car some 15 minutes while her husband, Martin, got out through a window and frantically tried to rescue them.

The bottom of the car remained above the water, leaving a narrow breathing space inside. Rescuers tipped the car on its side. Efforts to revive Mrs. Wolin were not successful. Wolin and the children suffered minor injuries.

Top Pair Both Opposed To Income Levy

Councilman Warns, However, Treasury Heeded For Grief

Rival candidates for Circleville mayor squared off today on the state of the municipal treasury, but agreed that a proposed city income tax would be difficult to administer and unfair to many it would hit. Both oppose any such levy.

Replying to a statement by Republican Mayor Bob Hedges, who is seeking re-election in Tuesday's balloting, Councilman John Robinson warned of financial grief facing the municipality unless corrective steps are taken. Robinson, for the second straight try, is running against Hedges on the Democratic ticket.

Like the mayor, Robinson said he is opposed to a city income tax, chiefly because its administrative costs "would be very great" and because he feels it would not be fairly applied to the taxpayers. An ordinance to set up an income tax has already passed first reading in city council.

It would go into effect if passed by the law-making body, and hence the question—even though it is not on Tuesday's ballot—is certain to be a factor in the voting.

TOUCHING on the high cost of administering an income tax in Circleville, Robinson declared:

"In Columbus they admit that they don't collect nearly all of it up there."

In many respects, the Columbus income tax ordinance was used as a guide to draw up the measure now pending here.

Robinson said the proposed Circleville levy, as drawn up at the request of Councilman George Crites, who is now in Florida on vacation, "appears unfair in several sections". The challenger for the mayor's job said the law would include no exemption for dependents, "and thus puts a burden on those least able to pay".

Robinson disagrees with the mayor on another measure waiting in council—an ordinance that would revise the city sewer rental setup and increase rates. Hedges has indicated he favors the ordinance, to help launch a major program of sewer improvements, but Robinson said:

"I'm dead set against any sewer rental plan that is based on the amount of water used."

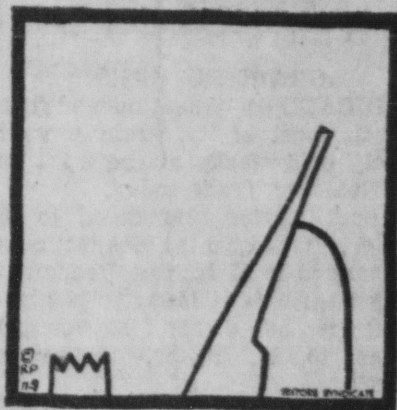

(That would be the new arrangement under the sewer rate ordinance under study in council.)

ROBINSON went on:

Mass Cancer Testing Plan Seen Possible

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—A new test which raises "a strong possibility" that large numbers of people can be tested for cancer, as in the familiar mass screening for tuberculosis, is reported by three Youngstown research workers in the American Journal of Clinical Pathology.

Ike To Return To Capital Friday

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower will leave the hospital Friday and fly back to Washington, but his doctors said today it may be late January or early February before he is in a position to decide whether to seek reelection.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, noted Boston heart specialist, told a news conference it will be entirely up to the chief executive to make a decision as to whether to run again.

2 Children Left To Stray Along Highway

ELIZABETH, W. Va. (AP)—Sheriff Harry James went to juvenile welfare authorities in Columbus today with his story of two stray children he started back to their North Canton, Ohio, homes yesterday.

The two youngsters, 8-year-old Georgia Roberta Sunderman and her 4-year-old brother, Robert Lee, were found walking aimlessly up and down W. Va. 14 near here about noon Saturday.

Sheriff James and his wife took the walks into their home, and managed, through considerable confusion, to get in touch with their mother, Mrs. Dorothy Sunderman in North Canton yesterday.

The sheriff quoted her that Ralph Hanshaw, a neighbor of the Sundermans, set out with the children Friday morning with the mother's permission, and the understanding he would take them to their grandmother's home in St. Mays, W. Va.

It was on the mother's authority that James returned the children to Hanshaw yesterday. At the same time, however, the sheriff made known his plans to get in touch with the Ohio juvenile welfare authorities today.

Hanshaw said James, blamed his brother for turning the children out of the car and leaving them in the highway. The sheriff reported the two youngsters willingly went with Hanshaw for the return trip to North Canton.

"There was nobody with Hanshaw when he came here and I don't know anything about his brother," Sheriff James said. He added he had accused Hanshaw of "drinking all night Friday, and he didn't deny it."

"The test of optical density is practical for mass screenings: It is inexpensive, rapid and easily mastered by technicians. The only special equipment needed is a spectrophotometer," they conclude.

The researchers report that since their article was written, the test has been applied to 3,500 persons through the cooperation of Youngstown industries and their employees, and that the results continue to be encouraging.

Ford To Sell Common Stock To Public For First Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock of the Ford Motor Co., which revolutionized America with its mass production methods, is to be sold to the public after the first of the year.

The price and precise timing have not yet been set, but nearly seven million new common shares with voting rights will be offered. Financial analysts say it is expected to bring up to $500 million, indicating a price of $60 to $70 a share.

Announcement that Ford, richest private business enterprise in the world, would desert the ranks of family-owned firms was made last night. It came from the Ford Foundation, multi-million-dollar philanthropic trust set up by Henry Ford, who died in 1947.

The new stock will be offered by the Ford Foundation, not by the company.

Henry Ford II, grandson of the founder and president of the Ford Co., has agreed with other Ford heirs to transfer 60 per cent of their exclusive voting control of the company to the new common stock, H. Rowan Gaither Jr., Foundation president, says.

The other 40 per cent of voting rights will remain with the Ford family.

With the public sale of its stock, the company will have to disclose for the first time its assets and earnings, one of its most carefully guarded secrets for 52½ years.

Only last Wednesday, Ernest R. Breech, Ford board chairman, declared the company's 1955 earnings, before taxes, would surpass the firm's total earnings for the 21 years before World War II. Neither figure was revealed, however.

Three new classes of Ford stock will be issued and, after stock splits, the company will have a total of 53,461,470 shares of stock. There are now outstanding 3,322,395 shares of no voting class A stock. These will be split 15 for 1.

There are now 172,645 shares of voting Class B stock, all held by members of the Ford family or their interests. These will be split 21 for 1.

The Ford Foundation, set up in 1936, holds 88 per cent of the non-voting A stock or 3,089,908 shares. The Ford family also owns 190,347 shares of A stock. The balance is held by 108 key employees of the company.

When the reorganization is complete, the only non-voting A common will be held by the Ford Foundation. As soon as any of this is offered for sale to the public, however, it is to be converted into voting common stock.

All the A stock held by the Ford family will be converted into shares of the new B stock. This would bring the total of B shares, all held by the family, to 6,480,750. Whenever any of these B shares are sold outside the family, they will be converted into new common stock with voting rights.

As long as there are 2,700,000 or more of these B shares, they will carry 40 per cent of the voting rights. Should the number fall below 2,700,000 the voting percentage will be reduced to 30 per cent. If they should fall below 1½ million shares, the new B stock would become equal to the common stock in voting power.

Dulles conferred today with disarmament expert Harold Stassen. He opened a drive to get Russian participation in measures designed to make a massive surprise attack by either America or the Soviet Union impossible.

As President Eisenhower's special adviser on disarmament, Stassen will participate with Dulles in the disarmament phase of Big Four conference talks later this week.

Dulles, it was learned, will tell Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that agreement on such measures, keyed to President Eisenhower's U. S.-Soviet aerial inspection plan, could be followed readily by other steps leading to worldwide arms reduction and control of atomic weapons.

Cut In Arms Being Talked At Geneva

Dulles conferred today with disarmament expert Harold Stassen. He opened a drive to get Russian participation in measures designed to make a massive surprise attack by either America or the Soviet Union impossible.

As President Eisenhower's special adviser on disarmament, Stassen will participate with Dulles in the disarmament phase of Big Four conference talks later this week.

Dulles, it was learned, will tell Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that agreement on such measures, keyed to President Eisenhower's U. S.-Soviet aerial inspection plan, could be followed readily by other steps leading to worldwide arms reduction and control of atomic weapons.

Dulles is prepared to assure Molotov that while the United States considers aerial inspection an essential measure in preventing surprise attack, it is prepared to consider any other suggestions for action the Soviets may put forward.

Meanwhile, a committee of Big Four experts seeking agreement on the lowering of Iron Curtain barriers to develop East-West contacts have found the "Spirit of Geneva" wearing thin.

Authoritative sources say three days of secret negotiations between representatives of the Big Three Western Powers and the Soviet Union have failed to produce agreement on any major point.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sportsman William Woodward Jr., 35, shot to death eight days ago by his wife who says she mistook him for a prowler, left an estate estimated between 5 and 10 million dollars.

The value of the estate was reported today by newspapers which also said the principal beneficiaries of Woodward's will are his wife, Ann, and two sons, William 3d, 11, and James, 7.

Police investigators have reported finding nothing contrary to Mrs. Woodward's claim that the shotgun death in the couple's Oyster Bay, N. Y., home was an accident.

Mother Drowns Saving 2 Tots

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A mother drowned but saved her children by holding their heads above water when they were trapped in a car that overturned in a canal yesterday.

The dead woman was Mrs. Hazel Wolin, 33. She and the children, Irene, 6, and Roy, 3, remained in the upside-down car some 15 minutes while her husband, Martin, got out through a window and frantically tried to rescue them.

The bottom of the car remained above the water, leaving a narrow breathing space inside. Rescuers tipped the car on its side. Efforts to revive Mrs. Wolin were not successful. Wolin and the children suffered minor injuries.

2 Big Issues Top Interest In Ohio Vote

(Continued From Page One) National groups have conducted a spirited campaign to win voter approval. If the proposal is adopted, the bonds would be paid off through a penny-a-pack tax on cigarettes. The state already collects a two-cents-a-pack excise levy.

The most strife of the entire campaign has centered on the CIO-sponsored proposal to increase unemployment benefits.

Chief opposition has come from the Ohio Information Committee, a campaign group sponsored by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Manufacturers' Assn. The Ohio Manufacturers' Assn.

The proposed amendment to the present law would increase the top weekly unemployment benefit from $33 to $50 with a $9 maximum allowance for dependents instead of $6. It also would increase the maximum benefit period from 26 to 39 weeks.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown estimates that no more than 2,195,000 Ohioans will go to the polls tomorrow, less than half the eligible citizens.

POLLS OPEN at 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m. Only 3.2 beer will be on sale throughout Ohio from 6 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. State liquor stores will not open at all.

Voters in 11 other states also will ballot in off-year elections. The results promise little in the way of national significance since most campaigns have been local and no congressional seats are being filled.

The featured contests are for governor of Kentucky and mayor of Philadelphia. Most political observers forecast Democratic victories. Both posts now are held by Democrats.

In the contest for governor of Kentucky, A. B. Chandler is attempting a political comeback. The Republican opponent of the former governor, senator and baseball commissioner is Edwin R. Denney, former U. S. district attorney.

The choice for mayor of Philadelphia is between veteran Democratic campaigner Richardson Dilworth and Republican W. Thacher Longstreth, 35-year-old advertising executive. Democrats won the post in 1951, ending 67 years of Republican rule.

Another 18 Lives Lost On Highways

COLUMBUS (U)—Ohio had its usual rash of fatal traffic accidents over the weekend, but none took more than one life. As a result, the death toll was off more than one-third from a week ago.

During the period 6 p. m. Friday to last midnight 18 persons were killed on the state's roads. In addition, one person died when poisoned by carbon monoxide escaping from a faulty gas heater.

Policeman Does OK As Veteran Midwife

CHICAGO (U)—For a policeman, officer Leo Sherlock does all right as a midwife.

Nicknamed "Midwife Sherlock" by his station house companions, Sherlock helped deliver his 103rd baby over the weekend.

He had only to step across the street from the station house to help deliver a seven-pound girl to Mrs. Helen Farmer, 28. Mother and daughter are doing fine.

Wimer Fined Here

Harold Wimer, who pleaded guilty to indictments of two counts of issuing a check with no money, was fined $100 and costs by Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff. Judge Radcliff later suspended one $50 fine against Wimer.

Grove City Man Wins 1st Annual State Tractor Pull Contest Here

Russell Ruff, of Grove City, won a huge trophy as the grand champion tractor puller in the first annual state-wide contest. The event was held at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Saturday.

Ruff pulled 187 1/2 percent of his tractor weight to win the trophy. He was able to pull the load 7-feet 2-inches.

A total of 81 entrants from all over Ohio competed for the trophies, the awards drawing much comment for their "attractiveness". The most popular event was the team pull, in which two tractors pull side by side on a single hitch.

The Frankfort High School marching band was on hand to provide music for the opening of the competition. A color guard from the American Legion Johnson-Minor Post 618 of Williamsport, which sponsored the event, conducted the flag raising ceremonies.

COY WAGNER was the judge and Gene Mace handled the announcing chores. Some humor was provided in the team pull when

New Charges Exchanged By Jews, Arabs

JERUSALEM (U)—New charges of violations of the Palestine armistice confronted peacekeepers today in the troubled Middle East.

They included an Israeli declaration the Egyptian troops were entrenched in the demilitarized zone of the Egyptian Sinai, "constituting a longstanding violation and a threat to civilian life."

An Israeli Foreign Office spokesman said "Israel is fully aware of the presence of Egyptian troops" in the zone, opposite the scene of last week's bloody El Sabba clash.

The spokesman said "prohibited numbers" of troops were in the area where the Armistice agreements permits only three Egyptian checkpoints with a total of 30 soldiers.

Israel also accused Egypt of a new raid near the Gaza strip. Other claims and counterclaims were exchanged by Jordan and Israel.

Jordan charged Israel with five fresh armistice violations and the Israelis countered with a claim that Jordan troops dynamited two houses in a border village near Kfar Saba in central Israel.

Egyptian anti-aircraft guns drove off four Israeli reconnaissance planes which flew over, the Egyptian military spokesman said.

Albert Grand, true organization spokesman, said there had been no major outburst of violence since the 17-hour El Sabba battle Thursday, and asserted the situation "isn't wholly satisfactory yet, but there is at least a de facto ceasefire. That's the important thing."

ational groups have conducted a spirited campaign to win voter approval. If the proposal is adopted, the bonds would be paid off through a penny-a-pack tax on cigarettes. The state already collects a two-cents-a-pack excise levy.

The most strife of the entire campaign has centered on the CIO-sponsored proposal to increase unemployment benefits.

Chief opposition has come from the Ohio Information Committee, a campaign group sponsored by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Manufacturers' Assn. The Ohio Manufacturers' Assn.

The proposed amendment to the present law would increase the top weekly unemployment benefit from $33 to $50 with a $9 maximum allowance for dependents instead of $6. It also would increase the maximum benefit period from 26 to 39 weeks.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown estimates that no more than 2-195,000 Ohioans will go to the polls tomorrow, less than half the eligible citizens.

POLLS OPEN at 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m. Only 3.2 beer will be on sale throughout Ohio from 6 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. State liquor stores will not open at all.

Voters in 11 other states also will ballot in off-year elections. The results promise little in the way of national significance since most campaigns have been local and no congressional seats are being filled.

The featured contests are for governor of Kentucky and mayor of Philadelphia. Most political observers forecast Democratic victories. Both posts now are held by Democrats.

In the contest for governor of Kentucky, A. B. Chandler is attempting a political comeback. The Republican opponent of the former governor, senator and baseball commissioner is Edwin R. Denney, former U. S. district attorney.

The choice for mayor of Philadelphia is between veteran Democratic campaigner Richardson Dilworth and Republican W. Thacher Longstreth, 35-year-old advertising executive. Democrats won the post in 1951, ending 67 years of Republican rule.

Another 18 Lives Lost On Highways

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio had its usual rash of fatal traffic accidents over the weekend, but none took more than one life. As a result, the death toll was off more than one-third from a week ago.

During the period 6 p.m. Friday to last midnight 18 persons were killed on the state's roads. In addition, one person died when poisoned by carbon monoxide escaping from a faulty gas heater.

Policeman Does OK As Veteran Midwife

CHICAGO (AP)—For a policeman, officer Leo Sherlock does all right as a midwife.

Nicknamed "Midwife Sherlock" by his station house companions, Sherlock helped deliver his 103rd baby over the weekend.

He had only to step across the street from the station house to help deliver a seven-pound girl to Mrs. Helen Farmer, 28. Mother and daughter are doing fine.

Wimer Fined Here

Harold Wimer, who pleaded guilty to indictments of two counts of issuing a check with no money, was fined $100 and costs by Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff. Judge Radcliff later suspended one $50 fine against Wimer.

Vital Issues Due On Ballot

Less Than Half Of Voters Expected At Polls Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Less than half the Ohioans old enough to vote will take part in next Tuesday's election.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicted about 2,195,000 will go to the polls in the 1955 "odd year" election. He estimated 5½ million Ohioans have reached the voting age of 21 years.

Officials said the usually light vote in "odd year" elections might work against success of a labor union proposal to boost unemployment compensation benefits.

Placed on ballots through petition, the proposal to increase maximum jobless benefits from $33 a week for 26 weeks to $50 for 39 weeks is one of four statewide issues up for decision.

The others call for changes in the State Constitution at the request of the Legislature. They would:

Authorize a 150 million dollar bond issue with half the money earmarked for new state hospitals and prisons and the rest for schools, office buildings and other construction.

Allow judges, whose salaries cannot now be changed during their terms, to receive increases recently approved by the Legislature for those starting new terms.

Permit similar pay raises to elected county officials and some state officials other than legislators and elected state officials such as governor.

Regional interest centers in the first election of a 23-member state board of education with power to appoint a state superintendent of public instruction, now designated by the governor. One board member will be elected in each of the state's 23 congressional districts under a change in the State Constitution approved by voters in 1953.

Local election interest focuses on selection of city, village and township officials and a few judges to fill vacancies.

More than 1,500 special issues in local communities are up for decision. Most of the bond issues and tax levies deal with schools and miscellaneous subjects such as wet and dry questions.

Brown's forecast was barely 3,600 more than the 2,191,448 votes cast in 1953, the last "odd year" election. The high was 2,303,860 in 1949 when the office-type ballot and sale of colored oleo won approval. State and federal officials, including the President, will be elected next year.

The CIO-initiated proposal to boost jobless benefits would apply to about two-thirds of the state's approximately 3,450,000 workers. About 2,400,000 employees are covered by unemployment compensation.

The figures came from the Ohio Information Committee, an organization sponsored by business interests that took a name with reverse CIO initials. The OIC and various farm and other groups oppose the CIO proposal as authorizing "too much pay for no work".

The state tax department figures the proposal would increase the cost of unemployment compensation some 47½ million dollars annually.

The CIO and supporting labor and other organizations contend higher jobless benefits would allow the unemployed and their families "to live in greater dignity and decency while they search for work".

Backers dispute CIO claims the increases would mean higher taxes.

The proposed law, placed on ballots after failure of the Legislature to approve it, also would permit supplemental payments to workers covered by so-called guaranteed annual wage contracts.

Other provisions would raise minimum jobless benefits from $10 to $15 a week, increase dependency allowances from $6 to $9 a week and place the burden of proof in appeal cases on the party asking reconsideration of a claim. The burden of such proof now rests on the worker.

Backers of the proposed constitutional amendments stress approval would permit equalization of salaries for judges and most elected officials immediately instead of in 1961 when new terms will apply to all such posts.

Spearheading the drive for approval of changes in the Constitution is the Committee for Improved Public Service headed by Don H. Ebright, former state treasurer now vice president of Cleveland's Union Bank of Commerce.

Inequities in judicial salaries were spotlighted last year by the brief resignation of Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court. Weygant and Judge William L. Hart now receive less pay than the other five Supreme Court judges. That is because they were elected to six-year terms in 1950 before the Legislature approved increases.

Election officials speculated a light statewide vote might work against approval of the CIO jobless pay boost proposal because union strength is centered in metropolitan areas.

Voter registration this year is down in such areas with the exceptions of Mahoning, Butler, Ross and Scioto counties, Brown reported.

Officials said voting interest appeared diminished in Cleveland, the state's largest city. There Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze all but clinched re-election in the municipal primary by eliminating all but write-in opposition next Tuesday under a city charter provision.

Brown said about 120,000 workers would be required to handle Tuesday's election machinery in the state's 1,626 polling places and his Columbus office where returns will be compiled.

Polls will be open for 12 hours between 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. State liquor stores will remain closed election day. Taverns cannot sell liquor between 6 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

2 Boys Sentenced To Reformatory

SPENCER, Ind. (AP)—Two Gosport youths must serve 1 to 10 years at the Indiana Reformatory for setting a covered-bridge fire which caused the death of a fireman, their good friend.

Dale Morgan, 19, and William

Pack Jr., 17, were sentenced by Judge Frank Martin. They had pleaded guilty to second degree arson and had admitted setting two fires in an old wooden span over White River near Gosport last week.

Bert Dittenore, 32-year-old assistant fire chief at Gosport and a good friend of the boys, was killed as the bridge collapsed while firemen were fighting the blaze.

Vital Issues Due On Ballot

Less Than Half Of Voters Expected At Polls Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Less than half the Ohioans old enough to vote will take part in next Tuesday's election.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicted about 2,195,000 will go to the polls in the 1955 "odd year" election. He estimated 5½ million Ohioans have reached the voting age of 21 years.

Officials said the usually light vote in "odd year" elections might work against success of a labor union proposal to boost unemployment compensation benefits.

Placed on ballots through petition, the proposal to increase maximum jobless benefits from $33 a week for 26 weeks to $50 for 39 weeks is one of four statewide issues up for decision.

The others call for changes in the State Constitution at the request of the Legislature. They would:

Authorize a 150 million dollar bond issue with half the money earmarked for new state hospitals and prisons and the rest for schools, office buildings and other construction.

Allow judges, whose salaries cannot now be changed during their terms, to receive increases recently approved by the Legislature for those starting new terms.

Permit similar pay raises to elected county officials and some state officials other than legislators and elected state officials such as governor.

Regional interest centers in the first election of a 23-member state board of education with power to appoint a state superintendent of public instruction, now designated by the governor. One board member will be elected in each of the state's 23 congressional districts under a change in the State Constitution approved by voters in 1953.

Local election interest focuses on selection of city, village and township officials and a few judges to fill vacancies.

More than 1,500 special issues in local communities are up for decision. Most of the bond issues and tax levies deal with schools and miscellaneous subjects such as wet and dry questions.

Brown's forecast was barely 3,600 more than the 2,191,448 votes cast in 1953, the last "odd year" election. The high was 2,303,860 in 1949 when the office-type ballot and sale of colored oleo won approval. State and federal officials, including the President, will be elected next year.

The CIO-initiated proposal to boost jobless benefits would apply to about two-thirds of the state's approximately 3,450,000 workers. About 2,400,000 employees are covered by unemployment compensation.

The figures came from the Ohio Information Committee, an organization sponsored by business interests that took a name with reverse CIO initials. The OIC and various farm and other groups oppose the CIO proposal as authorizing "too much pay for no work".

The state tax department figures the proposal would increase the cost of unemployment compensation some 47½ million dollars annually.

The CIO and supporting labor and other organizations contend higher jobless benefits would allow the unemployed and their families "to live in greater dignity and decency while they search for work".

Backers dispute CIO claims the increases would mean higher taxes.

The proposed law, placed on ballots after failure of the Legislature to approve it, also would permit supplemental payments to workers covered by so-called guaranteed annual wage contracts.

Other provisions would raise minimum jobless benefits from $10 to $15 a week, increase dependency allowances from $6 to $9 a week and place the burden of proof in appeal cases on the party asking reconsideration of a claim. The burden of such proof now rests on the worker.

Backers of the proposed constitutional amendments stress approval would permit equalization of salaries for judges and most elected officials immediately instead of in 1961 when new terms will apply to all such posts.

Spearheading the drive for approval of changes in the Constitution is the Committee for Improved Public Service headed by Don H. Ebright, former state treasurer now vice president of Cleveland's Union Bank of Commerce.

Inequities in judicial salaries were spotlighted last year by the brief resignation of Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court. Weygant and Judge William L. Hart now receive less pay than the other five Supreme Court judges. That is because they were elected to six-year terms in 1950 before the Legislature approved increases.

Election officials speculated a light statewide vote might work against approval of the CIO jobless pay boost proposal because union strength is centered in metropolitan areas.

Voter registration this year is down in such areas with the exceptions of Mahoning, Butler, Ross and Scioto counties, Brown reported.

Officials said voting interest appeared diminished in Cleveland, the state's largest city. There Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze all but clinched re-election in the municipal primary by eliminating all but write-in opposition next Tuesday under a city charter provision.

Brown said about 120,000 workers would be required to handle Tuesday's election machinery in the state's 1,626 polling places and his Columbus office where returns will be compiled.

Polls will be open for 12 hours between 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. State liquor stores will remain closed election day. Taverns cannot sell liquor between 6 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

2 Boys Sentenced To Reformatory

SPENCER, Ind. (AP)—Two Gosport youths must serve 1 to 10 years at the Indiana Reformatory for setting a covered-bridge fire which caused the death of a fireman, their good friend.

Dale Morgan, 19, and William

Pack Jr., 17, were sentenced by Judge Frank Martin. They had pleaded guilty to second degree arson and had admitted setting two fires in an old wooden span over White River near Gosport last week.

Bert Dittenore, 32-year-old assistant fire chief at Gosport and a good friend of the boys, was killed as the bridge collapsed while firemen were fighting the blaze.

SURGING AHEAD

ECONOMISTS are again revising their predictions on what's ahead on their front. They have been loath to make more than extremely guarded comment on the prospects for next year—for one reason, because it is a "presidential election" year.

But they are now predicting that next year's business volume—which means employment and prosperity generally—will eclipse that of this year, and some of the more bold say the increase will be substantial. They regard the current boom as so dynamic that political vicissitudes cannot affect it.

There are news items to buttress their position. Contrary to expectations a few weeks ago, automobile dealers now have only half as many new cars in stock as they had six weeks ago. New models are moving well, and the most optimistic predictions of industry officials as to next year's production and sales may be borne out.

Steel mills are operating at capacity and building construction is holding up well. Unemployment is practically nil. There is nothing on the horizon to indicate a slowdown in business, and many signs to herald still more prosperous times in the offing.

AMAZING ENTERPRISE

GLEAINED from the daily mail is a form letter proposing membership in a national fishing club. In return for paying dues, you get a good deal of piscatorial literature, accident and hospitalization policies which increase in benefits as your membership lengthens—a motor touring service, borrowing rights in a sport film library and other fringe benefits.

The way Americans, steeped in private enterprise, react to the main chance is amazing. With more pocket money than ever before and shortening hours of labor, a vista of increasing leisure is unfolding for millions. Many won't know what to do with their loafing time.

That's where private enterprise comes in. Some alert citizen sees a chance to sell a new service in a field created by changing conditions. So he forms an organization, gets memberships and is on his way to fortune—if the idea proves to be sound.

So may it always be in the United States of America. And so it will be unless we are foolish enough to allow the dictatorially-minded to kill the precious spark of private initiative.

BRAZILIAN SPELL-DOWN

BRAZIL IS SPLIT wide open by a controversy on a very important subject. Spelling.

Brazilians speak Portuguese and it is the national language. Back in 1943 Brazil signed an agreement with Portugal to spell the words of the language in the standard, Old Country way. But this never took hold and nearly all Brazilians have continued to spell words in their own, streamlined fashion.

For instance, most words are spelled phonetically. What in Portugal is "philosophia" is "filosofia" in Brazil.

Just recently President Joao Cafe Filho vetoed a bill by the Brazil congress that would have killed the agreement with Portugal.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The basic error of American thinking since 1943 has been that Soviet Russia was most concerned with the conquest of Western Europe. Our high political as well as military command have based their concepts of war and diplomacy upon this hypothesis despite the historic fact that Soviet Russia, since 1917, has without deviation or diversion indicated that its major interest has been Asia and secondarily Africa.

The reason is that in relationship to historic forces, Russian thinking is orthodox. The Kremlin is building the largest empire known to history; it is following the classic line of empire building which is to increase the supplies of food and raw materials. Soviet Russia has no need to try to digest 200,000,000 indigestible Western Europeans, who, for centuries, have been short of food and raw materials and have expanded over every ocean, at great cost of life and wealth, in search of these commodities.

In Asia, Soviet Russia can find everything to make the Soviet Universal State entirely self-sufficient, and Soviet Russia has built her enormous submarine fleet to keep open the lanes of commerce in the Pacific and Indian Oceans which the Kremlin seeks to dominate not so much in war as for commerce, for the movement of bulk goods in vessels in the 20th century as Britain did in the 18th and 19th centuries.

The stimulation of the Egypt-Israel fracas, the stimulation of Afghan-Pathan-Pakistan conflicts have, of course, political overtones and serve to lessen the effectiveness of American policy centering in AATO. But primarily what Russia achieved by becoming Egypt's ally and protector is that the long historic struggle to escape from the Black Sea through the Dardanelles has been achieved.

Soviet Russia will before long be a factor in Suez Canal affairs and all the current denials are meaningless because the course of history is relentless and denials are often like dead flowers which still look somewhat alive.

If the Soviet Universal State can use Egypt as a base to eliminate not only Israel but the Western Powers from the Middle East and North Africa, the balance of forces, the balance of food supply and raw materials, the balance of power will be radically altered.

If we accept General Douglas MacArthur's philosophic thesis that man has reached the period when war as an instrument of political power has ceased to be available because the conqueror can no longer avail himself of any fruits of conquest, it is easier to understand the Russian strategy, which is to reduce the authority and power of the West without fighting a war.

By this process, Soviet Russia has added to the Soviet Universal State, as an integral part or a sphere of influence, China, part of Korea, most of Indo-China, Tibet, India, Afghanistan, Mongolia, Tannu Tuva, and made inroads upon Burma, Malaya and Indonesia.

Having reached the Indian Ocean, which Disraeli secured for Great Britain through the Suez Canal, the Kremlin has moved politically upon Egypt and the Middle East. Utilizing old and new techniques of "friendship," Soviet Russia and India, working in harmony, will bring into their fold the anti-colonial peoples of these areas. Western resistance is so negligible.

tugal. Now a congressional committee has reported in favor of overriding his veto.

One argument the "phoneticists" have in their favor is that while there are 56 million Brazilians, there are only 10 million Portuguese. So why should Brazil change to Portugal's ways?

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

LOIS disregarded Shandy's comment about himself. "Shandy, I've been thinking a lot about your story of the man who was painted and sculpted by so many artists. I've been getting the most conflicting stories of Roger Brindle; he was strong, he was weak; he was romantic, he was lusty; he was loved, he was hated."

"Jane said she would give you any help she could. She is really a magnificent woman. But why did she come back here, do you know?"

"She wants to discover how Roger Brindle died, Lois thought. Aloud she said, 'I don't know except that she'd like to see Mr. Kibbee and he won't have anything to do with her.'"

"Poor Albert," Shandy was amused. "The one-track mind. And yet there's a terrific strength in a man like that, Lois. His faith has a granite quality though I must admit it's tough on Bessie. She adores him, you know; she has even sacrificed her son to make her husband's life tranquil. She sits back, day after day, watching him burn incense on the altar of his god. There must have been times when she'd have liked to kill Roger."

"The silence seemed to bother him. He got up. 'You are cold. We had better start back.'"

He turned on the heater in the car, the headlights flared and the car rolled out of the circular parking space and down the narrow road that led away from the inn. They had nearly reached New Milford when Shandy spoke out of the darkness.

"I love Jane," he said, "but I wish to God she'd go away."

"Are you afraid she'll stir things up?"

Shandy's head turned as he tried for a brief moment to read her face, shadowy in the darkness. He looked back at the road. "Why do you say that?"

"Because that's what Dr. Thomas warned me not to do."

"Oh."

She waited but he made no attempt to amplify the monosyllable.

"Shandy!" she exclaimed, resisting an impulse to stop the car, to shake words out of the man who was so determinedly taciturn.

"What is it?"

"How long are we going on like this, crawling around in that great pit of silence?"

"You sound annoyed."

"Don't be sarcastic. But this is preposterous. Why can't we discuss the situation honestly? I'm not just trying to stir things up."

"In other words," he said, "with zeal and good intentions you are hell-bent on knowing what happened to Roger Brindle."

"Why did you take away the bullet?"

"Because," he said coolly, "I think that bullet was fired from my .22. Anyhow, that was a .22 bullet and I had a little .22 I carried in the car for awhile when there was a rash of hold-ups on the highways. Never used the thing. The war made me fed up with any kind of weapon. Anyhow, the thing is missing."

"But—"

"I don't know who. I don't know why, though I can guess about that. In fact, if I was pinned down—and don't try to do it—I could guess who. It happened two nights before Roger died. Someone stood outside the window and fired a shot at Roger, who was, presumably, on the couch. No one was hurt. That's the story in a nutshell."

"But hasn't anyone—"

"No one has done anything; no one has said anything. The pane might have been broken by a stone or hail for any comment I've heard. As for Roger, he sealed over the hole in the pane and left it there."

Why?

Shandy shrugged. "Perhaps to remind someone that it was a near miss. Perhaps to remind himself to watch his step. Who knows? Odd, isn't it?"

He's lying, Lois thought. He's lying.

Shandy slowed down for Stoveville, swerved onto the road that led out of the village to the house that had been his. Outside the gates he stopped the car and turned to her.

"What," he asked politely, "do you intend to do?"

"Roger Brindle was murdered, wasn't he?"

"He was murdered," Shandy's pleasant voice was almost casual.

"I'm not really shocked, Lois thought; I'm not genuinely surprised. It had to be that way. Only murder—it's something in the papers, it's a radio program. Murder doesn't strike at home. And Roger—Roger the well beloved. Roger surrounded by people who were objects of his kindness, Roger whom someone hated enough to kill."

"I asked you before: what do you intend to do? Stick to your job and write the articles like a good girl, tell the story of the life" and times of America's peerless man, or stir up the animals?"

"We have no right to keep still about murder."

"Suppose you interfere," Shandy pointed out reasonably. "Do you realize what will happen? You'll be regarded as a meddlesome female with a bee in her bonnet. You'd be laughed at. And the people who admire Roger Brindle will crucify you for starting a scandal about him. Doc Thomas issued the death certificate. He'll lie himself black in the face. As soon as Roger was found, his body was carried up to his own room in the house and the cottage closed up. If you hadn't come so soon it would have been cleared of every evidence of his death before your arrival."

"Do you mean that everyone here is living in a kind of conspiracy of silence?"

Shandy said nothing.

"But who could buy silence like that?"

Shandy did not move, his hands still rested lightly on the wheel, but Lois found herself fumbling for the catch on the door. He started the car and drove into the garage.

"Better wait for me," he said as she got out. "You'll never be able to find your way without a flashlight. You don't want to get hurt."

She waited in the darkness, while the door was rolled down. Then he was beside her, his flashlight casting a beam on the ground.

Lois looked up at the dark house and it seemed to her that something moved at one of the windows. Probably just a curtain blowing in the wind, she thought. But there was no wind. They did not speak until they were out of range of the house, moving up the hill into the woods.

"Nervous here?" Shandy asked, again with the politeness that made her a stranger.

"Someone was watching me last night. I didn't like it."

"Sure? Not just country noises?"

"I'm sure. Someone was outside the window most of the evening and while I undressed."

"That won't happen again," he promised grimly.

"Why do you say that? Do you know who it was?"

"Probably Joe Hattery. Unsavory little beast. He's building himself up quite a score."

DIET AND HEALTH

Be Sure Reducing Diet Includes Enough Vitamins

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A WELL-BALANCED diet is essential for your good health. This is especially important while you're reducing.

Your body is so complicated that it needs a wide variety of raw materials to work efficiently. The only way you can get this variety is by eating different foods.

Vegetables and Fruits

You'll find vegetables and fruits stressed in any reducing diet because they give you many of the healthful elements you need.

For one thing, they give you bulk. Even more important, they give you valued vitamins.

Some Essential Vitamins

Vitamin B₁ is found in vegetables such as spinach, peas and kale.

Vitamin K is garnered chiefly from green leafy vegetables such as spinach. It is also found in tomatoes.

Tomatoes are also a good source of Vitamin C, as are oranges, tangerines, lemons, grapefruit and strawberries.

Vitamin A is found in vegetables such as spinach, peas, carrots, asparagus and sweet potatoes.

Well-Balanced Diet

While you may not find all of these vegetables and fruits in your reducing menu, you will find enough of them to give you a well-balanced diet.

You'll build up your health while cutting down your weight.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

K. M.: My husband and I have been told by doctors that we cannot have any children. It seems that it is not my fault. Is there still a chance that my husband might become fertile again?

Answer: Fertility in a male sometimes returns after treatment with male hormone and other drugs. This, of course, depends on the cause and severity of the individual case.

$10 For Woodpecker Scalp

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Some things a columnist might never know if he never opened his morning mail:

That nearly everyone knows Abraham Lincoln was the tallest American President (6-foot-4), but nine out of 10 people can't name the smallest.

He was James Madison, who was exactly one foot shorter than Lincoln.

That Buchanan was the only real bachelor President of the White House and President Tyler was the most prolific. Tyler had 14 children.

That up till now, Dwight David Eisenhower is the first and only President to hold an air pilot's license.

That it is hard to estimate how many super-intelligent people there are in this country, but there are probably 1,600,000 who are mentally deficient. This doesn't include Sunday drivers.

That in times past, man has used for money such odd things as the teeth of porpoises and whales, bear tusks, beaver skins, stones, the scalps of redheaded woodpeckers, pretty slaves and tobacco, salt, rum, sugar and beer.

Remember when they even used real money?

That for each person in America today, there is about $11 in coins, $172 in paper money, and $630 in checking accounts.

That business transactions in the United States average about $6 billion daily or over $2 billion a year.

That only 10 per cent of business involves an exchange of cash: The other 90 per cent is done with checks.

That an average of 19 million checks are written every day in this country, and that the amount of the average check is slightly under $300.

That nobody I know writes checks that average anywhere near as high as $300 each, so maybe I'd better start dropping my cheap friends and mingle with a better class of people.

That business and industry lost half a billion dollars last year because of stolen, fraudulent or forged checks.

That Christmas must be really getting close, or I wouldn't be wasting so much time thinking about money. Anybody want to trade one dirty 10 dollar bill for a couple of nice fresh redheaded woodpecker scalps?

That a pocket edition of Lillian Roth's best-seller autobiography, "I'll Cry Tomorrow," sold out a first printing of 750,000 copies in 10 days.

That Irwin H. Kramer, 32-year-old owner of the Hotel Edison retained a fashion expert to advise his lady guests on what to wear while in New York.

That 35 women in Short Hills, N. J., by collecting and melting down old eyeglasses frames, have raised enough funds in the last quarter century to provide new eyeglasses and artificial eyes for 105,000 people.

That a good hearty belch will relieve many persons of the fear they have a heart ailment. The feeling of pressure around the heart often results from a habit nervous people have of swallowing too much air.

That the rest of my morning mail today wouldn't interest you any more than it does me. Who likes to read bills?

Steel mills are operating at capacity and building construction is holding up well. Unemployment is practically nil. There is nothing on the horizon to indicate a slowdown in business, and many signs to herald still more prosperous times in the offing.

AMAZING ENTERPRISE

GLEAINED from the daily mail is a form letter proposing membership in a national fishing club. In return for paying dues, you get a good deal of piscatorial literature, accident and hospitalization policies which increase in benefits as your membership lengthens—a motor touring service, borrowing rights in a sport film library and other fringe benefits.

The way Americans, steeped in private enterprise, react to the main chance is amazing. With more pocket money than ever before and shortening hours of labor, a vista of increasing leisure is unfolding for millions. Many won't know what to do with their loafing time.

That's where private enterprise comes in. Some alert citizen sees a chance to sell a new service in a field created by changing conditions. So he forms an organization, gets memberships and is on his way to fortune—if the idea proves to be sound.

So may it always be in the United States of America. And so it will be unless we are foolish enough to allow the dictatorial-minded to kill the precious spark of private initiative.

BRAZILIAN SPELL-DOWN

BRAZIL IS SPLIT wide open by a controversy on a very important subject. Spelling.

Brazilians speak Portuguese and it is the national language. Back in 1943 Brazil signed an agreement with Portugal to spell the words of the language in the standard, Old Country way. But this never took hold and nearly all Brazilians have continued to spell words in their own, streamlined fashion.

For instance, most words are spelled phonetically. What in Portugal is "filosofia" is "filosofia" in Brazil.

Just recently President Joao Cafe Filho vetoed a bill by the Brazil congress that would have killed the agreement with Por-

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The basic error of American thinking since 1943 has been that Soviet Russia was most concerned with the conquest of Western Europe. Our high political as well as military command have based their concepts of war and diplomacy upon this hypothesis despite the historic fact that Soviet Russia, since 1917, has without deviation or diversion indicated that its major interest has been Asia and secondarily Africa.

The reason is that in relationship to historic forces, Russian thinking is orthodox. The Kremlin is building the largest empire known to history; it is following the classic line of empire building which is to increase the supplies of food and raw materials. Soviet Russia has no need to try to digest 200,000,000 indigestible Western Europeans, who, for centuries, have been short of food and raw materials and have expanded over every ocean, at great cost of life and wealth, in search of these commodities.

In Asia, Soviet Russia can find everything to make the Soviet Universal State entirely self-sufficient, and Soviet Russia has built her enormous submarine fleet to keep open the lanes of commerce in the Pacific and Indian Oceans which the Kremlin seeks to dominate not so much in war as for commerce, for the movement of bulk goods in vessels in the 20th century as Britain did in the 18th and 19th centuries.

The stimulation of the Egypt-Israel fracas, the stimulation of Afghan-Pathan-Pakistan conflicts have, of course, political overtones and serve to lessen the effectiveness of American policy centering in AATO. But primarily what Russia achieved by becoming Egypt's ally and protector is that the long historic struggle to escape from the Black Sea through the Dardanelles has been achieved.

Soviet Russia will before long be a factor in Suez Canal affairs and all the current denials are meaningless because the course of history is relentless and denials are often like dead flowers which still look somewhat alive.

If the Soviet Universal State can use Egypt as a base to eliminate not only Israel but the Western Powers from the Middle East and North Africa, the balance of forces, the balance of food supply and raw materials, the balance of power will be radically altered.

If we accept General Douglas MacArthur's philosophic thesis that man has reached the period when war as an instrument of political power has ceased to be available because the conqueror can no longer avail himself of any fruits of conquest, it is easier to understand the Russian strategy, which is to reduce the authority and power of the West without fighting a war.

By this process, Soviet Russia has added to the Soviet Universal State, as an integral part or a sphere of influence, China, part of Korea, most of Indo-China, Tibet, India, Afghanistan, Mongolia, Tannu Tuva, and made inroads upon Burma, Malaya and Indonesia.

Having reached the Indian Ocean, which Disraeli secured for Great Britain through the Suez Canal, the Kremlin has moved politically upon Egypt and the Middle East. Utilizing old and new techniques of "friendship," Soviet Russia and India, working in harmony, will bring into their fold the anti-colonial peoples of these areas. Western resistance is so negligible.

tugal. Now a congressional committee has reported in favor of overriding his veto.

One argument the "phoneticists" have in their favor is that while there are 56 million Brazilians, there are only 10 million Portuguese. So why should Brazil change to Portugal's ways?

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR
LOIS disregarded Shandy's comment about herself. "Shandy, I've been thinking a lot about your story of the man who was painted and sculpted by so many artists. I've been getting the most conflicting stories of Roger Brindle; he was strong, he was weak; he was romantic, he was lusty; he was loved, he was hated."

"Jane said she would give you any help she could. She is really a magnificent woman. But why did she come back here, do you know?"

"She wants to discover how Roger Brindle died, Lois thought. Aloud she said, 'I don't know except that she'd like to see Mr. Kibbee and he won't have anything to do with her.'"

"Poor Albert." Shandy was amused. "The one-track mind. And yet there's a terrific strength in a man like that, Lois. His faith has a granite quality though I must admit it's tough on Bessie. She adores him, you know; she has even sacrificed her son to make her husband's life tranquil."

"She sits back, day after day, watching him burn incense on the altar of his god. There must have been times when she'd have liked to kill Roger."

The silence seemed to bother him. He got up. "You are cold. We had better start back."

He turned on the heater in the car, the headlights flared and the car rolled out of the circular parking space and down the narrow road that led away from the inn. They had nearly reached New Milford when Shandy spoke out of the darkness.

"I love Jane," he said, "but I wish to God she'd go away."

"Are you afraid she'll stir things up?"

Shandy's head turned as he tried for a brief moment to read her face, shadowy in the darkness. He looked back at the road. "Why do you say that?"

"Because that's what Dr. Thomas warned me not to do."

"Oh."

She waited but he made no attempt to amplify the monosyllable. "Shandy!" she exclaimed, resisting an impulse to stop the car, to shake words out of the man who was so determinedly taciturn.

"What is it?"

"How long are we going on like this, crawling around in that great pit of silence?"

"You sound annoyed."

"Don't be sarcastic. But this is preposterous. Why can't we discuss the situation honestly? I'm not just trying to stir things up."

"In other words," he said, "with zeal and good intentions you are hell-bent on knowing what happened to Roger Brindle."

"Why did you take away the bullet?"

"Because," he said coolly, "I think that bullet was fired from my .22. Anyhow, that was a .22 bullet and I had a little .22 I carried in the car for awhile when there was a rash of hold-ups on the highways. Never used the thing. The war made me fed up with any kind of weapon. Anyhow, the thing is missing."

"But—"

"I don't know who. I don't know why, though I can guess about that. In fact, if I was pinned down—and don't try to do it—I could guess who. It happened two nights before Roger died. Someone stood outside the window and fired a shot at Roger, who was, presumably, on the couch. No one was hurt. That's the story in a nutshell."

"But hasn't anyone—"

"No one has done anything; no one has said anything. The pane might have been broken by a stone or hail for any comment I've heard. As for Roger, he sealed over the hole in the pane and left it there."

"Why?"

Shandy shrugged. "Perhaps to remind someone that it was a near miss. Perhaps to remind himself to watch his step. Who knows? Odd, isn't it?"

He's lying, Lois thought. He's lying.

Shandy slowed down for Stowe-ville, swerved onto the road that led out of the village to the house that had been his. Outside the gates he stopped the car and turned to her.

"What," he asked politely, "do you intend to do?"

"Roger Brindle was murdered, wasn't he?"

"He was murdered." Shandy's pleasant voice was almost casual. "I'm not really shocked, Lois thought; I'm not genuinely surprised. It had to be that way. Only murder—it's something in the papers, it's a radio program. Murder doesn't strike at home. And Roger—Roger the well beloved. Roger surrounded by people who were objects of his kindness, Roger whom someone hated enough to kill."

"I asked you before: what do you intend to do? Stick to your job and write the articles like a good girl, tell the story of the life."

and times of America's peerless man, or stir up the animals?"

"We have no right to keep still about murder."

"Suppose you interfere," Shandy pointed out reasonably. "Do you realize what will happen? You'll be regarded as a meddlesome female with a bee in her bonnet. You'd be laughed at. And the people who admire Roger Brindle will crucify you for starting a scandal about him. Doc Thomas issued the death certificate. He'll lie himself black in the face. In fact, he has lied himself black in the face. As soon as Roger was found, his body was carried up to his own room in the house and the cottage closed up. If you hadn't come so soon it would have been cleared of every evidence of his death before your arrival."

"Do you mean that everyone here is living in a kind of conspiracy of silence?"

Shandy said nothing.

"But who could buy silence like that?"

Shandy did not move, his hands still rested lightly on the wheel, but Lois found herself fumbling for the catch on the door. He started the car and drove into the garage.

"Better wait for me," he said as she got out. "You'll never be able to find your way without a flashlight. You don't want to get hurt."

She waited in the darkness, while the door was rolled down. Then he was beside her, his flashlight casting a beam on the ground.

Lois looked up at the dark house and it seemed to her that something moved at one of the windows. Probably just a curtain blowing in the wind, she thought. But there was no wind. They did not speak until they were out of range of the house, moving up the hill into the woods.

"Nervous here?" Shandy asked, again with the politeness that made her a stranger.

"Someone was watching me last night. I didn't like it."

"Sure? Not just country noises?"

"I'm sure. Someone was outside the window most of the evening and while I undressed."

"That won't happen again," he promised grimly.

"Why do you say that? Do you know who it was?"

"Probably Joe Hattery. Unsavory little beast. He's building himself up quite a score."

DIET AND HEALTH

Be Sure Reducing Diet Includes Enough Vitamins

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A WELL-BALANCED diet is essential for your good health. This is especially important while you're reducing.

Your body is so complicated that it needs a wide variety of raw materials to work efficiently. The only way you can get this variety is by eating different foods.

Vegetables and Fruits

You'll find vegetables and fruits stressed in any reducing diet because they give you many of the healthful elements you need.

For one thing, they give you bulk. Even more important, they give you valued vitamins.

Some Essential Vitamins

Vitamin B₁ is found in vegetables such as spinach, peas and kale.

Vitamin K is garnered chiefly from green leafy vegetables such as spinach. It is also found in tomatoes.

Tomatoes are also a good source of Vitamin C, as are oranges, tangerines, lemons, grapefruit and strawberries.

Vitamin A is found in vegetables such as spinach, peas, carrots, asparagus and sweet potatoes.

Well-Balanced Diet

While you may not find all of these vegetables and fruits in your reducing menu, you will find enough of them to give you a well-balanced diet.

You'll build up your health while cutting down your weight.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

K. M.: My husband and I have been told by doctors that we cannot have any children. It seems that it is not my fault. Is there still a chance that my husband might become fertile again?

Answer: Fertility in a male sometimes returns after treatment with male hormone and other drugs. This, of course, depends on the cause and severity of the individual case.

$10 For Woodpecker Scalp

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Some things a columnist might never know if he never opened his morning mail:

That nearly everyone knows Abraham Lincoln was the tallest American President (6-feet-4), but nine out of 10 people can't name the smallest.

He was James Madison, who was exactly one foot shorter than Lincoln.

That Buchanan was the only real bachelor President of the White House and President Tyler was the most prolific. Tyler had 14 children.

That up till now, Dwight David Eisenhower was the first and only President to hold an air pilot's license.

That it is hard to estimate how many super-intelligent people there are in this country, but there are probably 1,600,000 who are mentally deficient. This doesn't include Sunday drivers.

That in times past, man has used for money such odd things as the teeth of porpoises and whales, boar tusks, beaver skins, stones, the scalps of reheaded woodpeckers, pretty slaves and tobacco, salt, rum, sugar and beer.

Remember when they even used real money?

That for each person in America today, there is about $11 in coins, $172 in paper money, and $630 in checking accounts.

That business transactions in the United States average about $6 billion daily or over $2 billion a year.

That only 10 per cent of business involves an exchange of cash: The other 90 per cent is done with checks.

That an average of 19 million checks are written every day in this country, and that the amount of the average check is slightly under $300.

That nobody I know writes checks that average anywhere near as high as $300 each, so maybe I'd better start dropping my cheap friends and mingle with a better class of people.

That business and industry lost half a billion dollars last year because of stolen, fraudulent or forged checks.

That Christmas must be really getting close, or I wouldn't be wasting so much time thinking about money. Anybody want to trade one dirty 10 dollar bill for a couple of nice fresh reheaded woodpecker scalps?

That a pocket edition of Lillian Roth's best-seller autobiography, "I'll Cry Tomorrow," sold out a first printing of 750,000 copies in 10 days.

That Irwin H. Kramer, 32-year-old owner of the Hotel Edison retained a fashion expert to advise his lady guests on what to wear while in New York.

That 35 women in Short Hills, N. J., by collecting and melting down old eyeglasses frames, have raised enough funds in the last quarter century to provide new eyeglasses and artificial eyes for 105,000 people.

That a good hearty belch will relieve many persons of the fear they have a heart ailment. The feeling of pressure around the heart often results from a habit nervous people have of swallowing too much air.

That the rest of my morning mail today wouldn't interest you any more than it does me. Who likes to read bills?

Talk On Chrysanthemums Features Garden Club Meet

Mrs. Perry Speaks To 40 Club Members

"Showing and Growing Chrysanthemums" was the topic of Mrs. Paul Perry's talk when she addressed 40 members of Pickaway Garden Club recently. The meeting was held in the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Perry, a former vice president of the Columbus Region of Garden Clubs of Ohio is both a grower and shower of chrysanthemums. She is an officer in the Columbus Chrysanthemum Society and also the state organization. Recently, at the annual Chrysanthemum show in Columbus, Mrs. Perry won "Best-in-the-Show" in the specimen and arrangement classes.

She had on display many specimens of chrysanthemums which she had grown and several arrangements featuring chrysanthemums. The flowers varied in size from small button type under one inch to the large exhibition type, some of which were well over eight inches.

Mrs. Perry pointed out that chrysanthemums would grow in any good garden soil. If the soil is only she advised the addition of animal fertilizer, peat moss and sand.

In Ohio, chrysanthemums may be planted any time during the first two weeks of June and actually do better than the May 10 date which is supposedly a good time to set out plants in this region, she pointed out.

New plants which are quite small should be placed at least 15 to 20 inches apart to allow for growth. Mrs. Perry explained the techniques of pinching and disbudding which she added were relatively simple. Pinch plants back three inches when they reach a height of nine inches. Disbudding will start a few weeks later and is a continuous process.

Chrysanthemums take lots of watering she stated. She advised trench watering if there was time, and always ground watering rather than sprinkling the whole plant. In fact, when flowers are in bloom, Mrs. Perry said she covers them with plastic bags during a rain to protect the flower heads from the water.

Mrs. Perry has experimented with shading and has successfully stepped up the blooming time of several late varieties. The method used in shading is to cover a frame which is built over the plants with black sateen. The cloth is placed over the plants about 5 o'clock at night and removed at eight o'clock in the morning. Each variety of chrysanthemum has its own blooming date and its shading time must start according to its blooming time. These dates are well known to commercial growers.

In showing chrysanthemums Mrs. Perry warned that bracts near the flower head may take off as much as three points. Bracts are modified leaves. She uses any rose spray which contains fermetate to keep insects off the foliage.

She named among her favorite varieties the following — Meditation, Petunia, Major Bowes, The Swan, Tangiers, September Bronze, Melinda Brown Success and scores of others.

Mrs. Perry judged the display of dried materials and arrangements of chrysanthemums which members had brought. Awards went to Mrs. Guy G. Campbell, first; Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart, second and Mrs. Charles Thompson, third in the dried arrangement class.

In the arrangement of chrysanthemums Mrs. Charles Thompson was first; Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart second and Mrs. Guy Campbell third.

Recently, at the annual Chrysanthemum show in Columbus, Mrs. Perry won "Best-in-the-Show" in the specimen and arrangement classes.

She had on display many specimens of chrysanthemums which she had grown and several arrangements featuring chrysanthemums. The flowers varied in size from small button type under one inch to the large exhibition type, some of which were well over eight inches.

Mrs. Perry pointed out that chrysanthemums would grow in any good garden soil. If the soil is dry she advised the addition of animal fertilizer, peat moss and sand.

In Ohio, chrysanthemums may be planted any time during the first two weeks of June and actually do better than the May 10 date which is supposedly a good time to set out plants in this region, she pointed out.

New plants which are quite small should be placed at least 15 to 20 inches apart to allow for growth. Mrs. Perry explained the techniques of pinching and disbudding which she added were relatively simple. Pinch plants back three inches when they reach a height of nine inches. Disbudding will start a few weeks later and is a continuous process.

Chrysanthemums take lots of watering she stated. She advised frequent watering if there was a drought, and always ground watering rather than sprinkling the whole plant. In fact, when flowers are in bloom, Mrs. Perry said she covers them with plastic bags during a rain to protect the flower heads from the water.

Mrs. Perry has experimented with shading and has successfully stepped up the blooming time of several late varieties. The method used in shading is to cover a frame which is built over the plants with black sateen. The cloth is placed over the plants about 5 o'clock at night and removed at eight o'clock in the morning. Each variety of chrysanthemum has its own blooming date and its shading time must start according to its blooming time. These dates are well known to commercial growers.

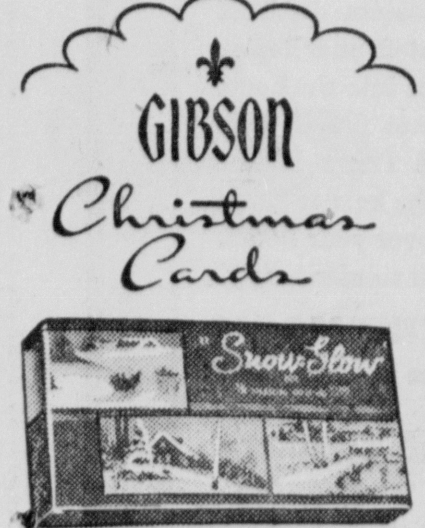

In showing chrysanthemums Mrs. Perry warned that bracts near the flower head may take off as much as three points. Bracts are modified leaves. She uses any rose spray which contains fermetate to keep insects off the foliage.

She named among her favorite varieties the following — Meditation, Petunia, Major Bowes, The Swan, Tangiers, September Bronze, Melinda Brown Success and scores of others.

Mrs. Perry judged the display of dried materials and arrangements of chrysanthemums which members had brought. Awards went to Mrs. Guy G. Campbell, first; Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart, second and Mrs. Charles Thompson, third in the dried arrangement class.

In the arrangement of chrysanthemums Mrs. Charles Thompson was first; Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart second and Mrs. Guy Campbell third.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife and I are in disagreement concerning a social policy for our 16-year-old daughter. When Carol was about 14, she started going with a boy who was then about two years ahead of her in school. He has developed into her "steady," which is OK. He is a nice boy and we all like him.

Now he is in college, and they are corresponding, and he dates her when he is home from school. Carol still has two years ahead of her in high school.

A question has arisen about Carol's attending weekend social events at John's school. She has been asked and wants to go. Girls are invited from Friday evening through Sunday evening, and the boys' fraternity house is turned over to them, under the jurisdiction of a house mother.

Father Says 'No'

As Carol's father, I feel she is too young, at 16, for this sort of thing; that her proper province at present is attending dances and functions in her own group here. However, I have no objections to her attending John's college dances occasionally on a one-evening basis—as the college isn't too far from our home.

I think the college group is a little beyond her. John is just starting college and he himself must be among the youngest of the crowd. And Carol's being two years behind him makes it seem out-of-keeping for her to attend these two-day programs.

My wife doesn't feel as I do. She is perfectly agreeable to Carol's going for the weekends. Naturally this isn't very conducive to happy relationships at home. What do you think? Carol always has been very well behaved and level-headed.

W. P.

DEAR W. P.: I think all good parents — devoted, intelligent, socially aware — search soberly for the right answer to this kind of question. And I also think that you and your wife are registering a perfectly natural difference of opinion, in the throes of trying to reach an appropriate decision.

It is a difference in viewpoint that issues from your being a man, and she being a woman; your being the father and she the mother. It is substantially the difference between the masculine and feminine outlook in man — woman experience. So don't let the difference engender bad feeling, rather, be philosophic and open-minded in trying to learn from each other, how to augment Carol's growth while protecting her also.

Well-married women are realists enough about human nature to be glad, when their daughters are sufficiently attractive and admired to be asked to properly chaperoned weekends. Because instinctively they want good marriage for their daughter, too, or at least opportunities for her to turn down offers, in the event she prefers another vocation. And the campus weekend is truly a compliment, from the boys' angle. They invite their nicest, or most beloved, girl friends to do them credit before their peers. And what is more poignantly painful to the sympathetic parent, than to have a wallflower daughter, withering on the vine?

Paternal Trust Helps

Doting fathers, on the other hand, tend to be jealous guardians of a winsome daughter, as if unconsciously appraising all masculine nature as potentially scoundrelly where the fair sex is concerned—especially in the riptide of youth.

Of course, you seem to feel that John can be trusted with Carol, at least while you keep a latching check on their dates. But as for trusting Carol out of your sight, overnight, in a dating situation that you can't regulate—well, your present dubiety says that you don't trust her to please you. In contrast, her mother does trust her, to behave with prudence and moral propriety. Of the two parental attitudes, your wife's is more helpful to the adolescent.

My advice is to stop arguing your anxiety in terms of generalities. Search yourself for the exact reasons why you prefer to have Carol stay home. What is it, exactly, that you fear for her, if she goes? As you dredge up your fears, discuss them explicitly with your wife, and listen attentively to her responses. That way, you'll be getting down to cases, in deciding, jointly, whether it is (or is not) a good risk to let Carol accept the weekend invitations.

The treatment of Minister of Foreign Affairs Mamoru Shigemitsu in this country was so thoughtless that its consequences may be tragic.

What this all sums up to is that the hypothesis that Soviet Russia seeks to conquer Europe, so surely accepted at Teheran (1943) and carried forward at Yalta (1945), has not proved out by 1955. On the IMPORTANT Medical Facts For Every Man Who Has Passed His 40th Birthday Men, Too, Go Thru "Change of Life" DOCTORS CALL IT "MALE CLIMACTERIC"

New Safe Discovery Compounded For Counteracting Effect on Body and Blood Changes Due To Usual Deficiencies That Often Occur During Middle Age.

Doctors, employers and scientists all agree that after the first 40 years, the human body undergoes important normal changes. This change occurs in MEN as well as WOMEN. Men, if you are over 40, in good health... but feel nervous, physically weak in legs, back and arms, can't sleep, find it difficult to make decisions... are quick-tempered, always tired and suffer from that terrible "what's the use" feeling... chances are you are going through "change of life," or as doctors call it, MALE CLIMACTERIC. And at this time it's more important than ever that your system isn't deficient in the very vitamins and minerals nature created to counteract and offset the distressing symptoms of these "after 40" body and blood changes. Amazing new power-packed capsules called AFTER 40 CAPSULES, have been created especially for men and women over forty... each hospital recognized ingredient carefully chosen and carefully compounded for its benefit on every man and woman... Yes, one potent AFTER 40 CAPSULE daily feeds your system a special and particular combination of Vitamins and Minerals to supply your blood, body organs, glands and nerves, including blood-building red Vitamin B-12, the vitamin Germ of Wheat E, stimulating B-1, Iron, Calcium, Phosphorus, Iodine and other potent Vitamins and Minerals. Don't be deprived of life's pleasures by these nutritional deficiencies when science has given you a second chance to recharge body and blood this new easy way.

Amazing New "Health in a Capsule" Discovery You've Long Heard Was Coming. Every Ingredient Works Immediately To Help Strengthen Body and Blood.

Just recently a well-known scientist perfected AFTER 40 CAPSULES. He combined a group of the RECOGNIZED VITAMINS AND MINERALS most often needed by men after 40. Don't Surrender to Old Age Until You've Made This Test

WHAT IS CLIMACTERIC? Medical dictionaries tell us "climacteric" is the time of life when the body undergoes a radical change. The first change, when boys become men and girls become women, is usually between the ages of 12-17... another change again occurs usually between 40 and 50.

WHO DOES IT AFFECT? Both men and women. In women it is called "menopause" or "change of life." In men, doctors call it "male climacteric."

WHAT ARE THE COMMON SYMPTOMS? Because the body and blood are undergoing important changes during climacteric, the entire system may become upset and symptoms are varied. Men are usually extremely nervous, fire easily, become irritable, feel weak in arms, legs and back and often are very "crabby." Often there are "hot flashes" accompanied by that "what's the use" feeling. And very often a special supplementary source of certain vitamins and minerals is needed such as you find in this important discovery called AFTER 40 CAPSULES.

WHAT CAN BE DONE? Medical science has discovered many medicines that can tide you over the difficult "change of life" period. Today, try the new capsule called "AFTER 40" that supplies the body with an unusual combination of vitamins and minerals so often needed during this period. Full month's supply only $3.00... be absolutely delighted with results or cheerful, unquestioned refund.

WASHINGTON (AP)—That economic giant straddling the continent, General Motors, will undergo a four-weeks' examination which may disclose a great deal about GM, and perhaps a great deal about the auto industry operates.

Beginning Tuesday, a Senate antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) will hold hearings on GM. Witnesses will be GM executives, economists, and people who deal with GM.

O'Mahoney says this is not an investigation. One man who will be working with O'Mahoney on this case said the hearings are not an effort to show there is anything illegal about GM or its way of doing business.

Why then the hearings at all? The subcommittee says it wants to know how GM got so big. It wants also to find out what effect such bigness has on the economy. The subcommittee is not singling out GM for attention. It has questioned other automakers this year.

The most startling evidence of GM's bigness was its announcement in late October that its total sales the first nine months of 1955 were 9 1/2 billion dollars and its profits 912 million.

That's the highest dollar profit figure for any corporation in American history and the figure is certain to go over one billion by year's end.

Recent mergers in the auto industry—not involving GM—reduced the number of individual companies from nine to six and O'Mahoney has raised the question of whether some of these survivors may not go out of business, too.

But GM won't be a casualty. O'Mahoney summed up some of GM's business this way: "It produces more passenger cars than all the other five firms combined; it is by far the most important producer of auto parts and accessories; it is a principal producer of trucks, buses, diesel engines and locomotives; it is a major factor in the manufacture of refrigerators, stoves, air conditioning equipment, and other things; and it is the biggest supplier of goods bought by the government."

While this is an impressive picture of the biggest corporation in history, O'Mahoney's committee wants to look into the practices of GM and their automakers with the dealers who sell their cars.

O'Mahoney said last week complaints have been received that GM and other automakers with dealers to buy unwanted cars, parts and accessories and even dictated the size and type of their business places, advertising, and accounting.

When O'Mahoney's group gets through with all this examination of the auto industry, what will it do with the information? Will it change anything? The subcommittee itself can't do anything except report its findings.

If it thinks there should be controls written into law over huge corporations, it can recommend that to Congress. But it would be a good guess—in a time of prosperity like this—that Congress would think quite a while before

E. O. Crites Tells Of Dan Stouts, Marksman And Rugged Hunter

At this time when the nimrods are rechecking their guns and polishing up their tales of hunters who had a rugged constitution to go with a keen shooting eye, Edson O. Crites opens his historical volumes and calls attention to an incident just one century old.

The article, written by Pat Kirwin for The Herald several years ago, tells of a truly amazing man in the person of the late Daniel M. Stout. Kirwin's article follows:

"Did you know that in 1855 a Walnut Township man, Daniel M. Stout, had the unfortunate accident of having a whole ram-rod of a muzzle loading rifle pass through his neck?"

"On the morning of Nov. 6, 1855, he had gone into the yard at his home to discharge the rifle. When it failed to explode the two caps which he had put on it, he took the weapon into the house where he discovered that it was filled with damp powder."

2 Big Auto Race Careers Come To End

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Two great auto racing careers have come to an end, one in death and one in disillusionment.

The first was Jack McGrath's. The 35-year-old Los Angeles driver, who held the 1-lap speed records at the Indianapolis Speedway, was killed yesterday when his car went into a spectacular flip and fell on top of him in the 86th lap of the 100-mile Bobby Ball Memorial championship race.

The second career closed when the American Automobile Assn. ended its sponsorship of championship racing after 46 years. The AAA had announced earlier it would quit, saying racing has been lacing increasing emphasis on speed, power and driver endurance and that these objectives are not in line with the AAA's safety program.

The race, stopped after 97 miles and four accidents, was won for the second year in a row by Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix. Johnny Thomson of Springfield, Mass., was second, George Amick of Los Angeles third, Andy Linden of Indianapolis fourth and Pat O'Connor of North Vernon, Ind., fifth.

McGrath's accident was the only one that produced injury. His car sprang into the air and bounded down the track after striking a heavy shoulder on a turn about three-quarters of the way through the 86th mile. He was running third. Witnesses said his right front axle folded.

"Then, after getting things so far ready for the operation, he set the trigger. He then cocked the rifle and setting his teeth to the rod, he pulled, while with another rod he set off the trigger."

"The rifle went off and the rod passed through his mouth and neck and entered a wall of the house. He was severely wounded, and Dr. Alva P. Courtright who attended him said that this accident would have killed a thousand men while only one would have survived."

"His wife fed him broth for several weeks until the swollen tongue and neck healed so he could eat solid foods."

"He was a sharp shooter as will be shown by the fact that he would make a target of a white piece of paper three inches square, and in the center of the cross which he would draw on it he would make a circle one inch in diameter. Into this small circle he was able to place five shots at sixty yards."

"He was a big man, standing 6 feet, 4 1/2 inches in his stocking feet, and weighed 260 pounds."

British Falter In Ryder Cup Play

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—It would appear that the best way for Great Britain to gain possession of the Ryder Cup golf trophy must be on some sort of lend-lease deal.

The United States today has the gold cup for another two years, winning it for the eighth time in the biennial battle yesterday, eight matches to four.

This 8-4 score was the best the British have ever done on American soil. One upset was included in their victories—the victory of England's John Jacobs over the American star, Cary Middlecoff, one up.

Spartans See Rose Bowl Hopes Soar

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan State's Rose Bowl hopes soared over the weekend as Illinois dropped Michigan from the ranks of the undefeated but the Wolverines still hold the whip in the Big Ten.

Michigan now must win its last two games against Indiana and Ohio State to gain the title and the trip to Pasadena.

Michigan State has to beat Minnesota Saturday and then hope for another Michigan loss since Michigan State plays only six conference games to Michigan's seven and each has one Big Ten loss.

Ohio State, not eligible for the Rose Bowl, also plays six games. However, before facing Michigan, the Bucks go against Iowa, a very tough customer.

Aside from Michigan's loss, everything was in apple pie order in the Big Ten Saturday. Ohio State beat Indiana, 20-13; Michigan State swamped Purdue 27-0; Iowa beat Minnesota, 26-0, and Wisconsin rolled over Northwestern, 41-14. Illinois' victory over Michigan, spearheaded by Bob Mitchell, an unknown sophomore who gained 173 yards in 10 carries including a

Unknown Kid Is Star In Illinois Win

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Bob Mitchell, an unknown sophomore half-back who turned the tide in Illinois' 25-6 upset over Michigan Saturday, wouldn't have played if it hadn't been for an injury.

Mitchell, a 20-year-old speedster from Hot Springs, Ark., was called upon when Harry Jefferson, one of the Big Ten's leading rushers, suffered a rib injury.

Mitchell carried only 10 times but gained 173 yards and scored on a 64-yard run that sealed pre-

64-yard touchdown run, gives the Illini hopes of a first division finish.

Failing to gain a single conference victory last year, Illinois now has a 2-3 record in Big Ten play and if the Illini can beat Wisconsin and Northwestern to close the season, a first division berth would be possible.

iously undefeated Michigan's fate. Illinois Coach Ray Eliot said today "he might never have gotten in the game if it hadn't been for Jefferson's injury."

Jefferson, Illinois' top back this season, was doing very well himself when he was injured in the third quarter. He had carried 14 times and picked up 60 yards to lead the Illini attack.

However, it was Mitchell who "provided the running spark for our victory," Eliot admitted.

An injury helped Mitchell gain the headlines but ironically enough if it hadn't been for the fact that J. C. Caroline was declared scholastically ineligible, Mitchell might not even have made the varsity. Caroline was the No. 1 left half in spring training; Jefferson No. 2. Eliot was not at all worried about the spot.

Caroline dropped out of school, Jefferson took over but Mitchell remained in the background.

As Mayor of our city during the past two years I have served the people to the best of my ability.

I am well aware of the fact that many improvements are needed, such as: improvement and extension of both storm and sanitary sewer facilities in many areas, improvement in the quality of our water supply, better street cleaning service, and garbage and refuse collection.

These are problems that only your elected Councilmen can solve along with the help of your Mayor. "Election promises" to the contrary — no person serving as your Mayor, can authorize or accomplish these needs of our city single-handedly.

I am against a City Income Tax. We are not that desperate for additional city revenue and I feel confident that sufficient money can be raised from other sources.

I do hereby assure you that if I am re-elected I will support any sound method of financing the work now under consideration as critical needs of our city.

Under our form of city government and our financial situation I have supported plans to give our people all that the city could afford, and any claim to the contrary is false and misleading.

Unknown Kid Is Star In Illinois Win

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Bob Mitchell, an unknown sophomore half-back who turned the tide in Illinois' 25-8 upset over Michigan Saturday, wouldn't have played if it hadn't been for an injury.

Mitchell, a 20-year-old speedster from Hot Springs, Ark., was called upon when Harry Jefferson, one of the Big Ten's leading rushers, suffered a rib injury.

Mitchell carried only 10 times but gained 173 yards and scored on a 64-yard run that sealed previously undefeated Michigan's fate.

Illinois Coach Ray Eliot said today "he might never have gotten in the game if it hadn't been for Jefferson's injury."

Jefferson, Illinois' top back this season, was doing very well himself when he was injured in the third quarter. He had carried 14 times and picked up 60 yards to lead the Illini attack.

However, it was Mitchell who "provided the running spark for our victory," Eliot admitted.

An injury helped Mitchell gain the headlines but ironically enough if it hadn't been for the fact that J. C. Caroline was declared scholastically ineligible, Mitchell might not even have made the varsity.

Caroline was the No. 1 left half in spring training; Jefferson No. 2. Eliot was not at all worried about the spot.

Caroline dropped out of school, Jefferson took over but Mitchell remained in the background.

Jack Dempsey will play the role of an assistant radio broadcaster in "Somebody Up There Likes Me," a film based on Rocky Graziano's life story.

READ THE HERALD CLASSIFIEDS

To the Citizens of Circleville

As Mayor of our city during the past two years I have served the people to the best of my ability.

I am well aware of the fact that many improvements are needed, such as: improvement and extension of both storm and sanitary sewer facilities in many areas, improvement in the quality of our water supply, better street cleaning service, and garbage and refuse collection.

These are problems that only your elected Councilmen can solve along with the help of your Mayor. "Election promises" to the contrary — no person serving as your Mayor, can authorize or accomplish these needs of our city single-handedly.

I am against a City Income Tax. We are not that desperate for additional city revenue and I feel confident that sufficient money can be raised from other sources.

I do hereby assure you that if I am re-elected I will support any sound method of financing the work now under consideration as critical needs of our city.

Under our form of city government and our financial situation I have supported plans to give our people all that the city could afford, and any claim to the contrary is false and misleading.

Your vote for me at the coming election — November 8th — will assure you that the best possible solution to our problems will be worked out.

As a citizen it is your privilege and duty to vote. Please go to the polls and ask your neighbor to go along with you.

Re-Elect MAYOR Robert E. "BOB" HEDGES

Republican Candidate Election Nov. 8, 1955 Your Support Appreciated —Pol. Adv.

Bears, Rams To Cash In Tell-Tale Tilt

West Coast Leaders Face 'Natural' In Duel With Chicagoans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Commissioner Bert Bell, whose many duties for the national football league include making up the schedule, has come up with an authentic "natural."

The commissioner had no way of foreseeing it, when he drew up the schedule long before the season, but he's got the Los Angeles Rams, Western Conference leaders, down to play Chicago's ram-paging Bears next Sunday. The Rams, sparked by a new backfield combination, rallied in the second half to defeat San Francisco 27-14 Sunday and hold their conference lead.

But they'll have to go all out next Sunday to hang onto it against the Bears, who crushed Green Bay 52-31 Sunday for their fourth successive victory. The Bears' 4-3 mark, shared by Baltimore, leaves them one game behind Los Angeles' 5-2.

The Eastern Conference "race," meanwhile, became more like a Cleveland romp as the Browns, paced by George Ratterman, rallied in the second half for a 24-14 victory over New York and Washington slapped down Philadelphia 34-21. Washington's 4-3 record leaves the "Skins" tied with Pittsburgh, which bowed to the Chicago Cardinals 27-13 Saturday night. Both trail Cleveland by two games with five to play.

Baltimore fell out of a Western Conference first-place tie with Los Angeles Saturday night as Detroit hung up its first victory of the year by a 24-14 count.

With his team trailing 14-3 at the half, Ram Coach Sid Gillman gambled by sending out a backfield that included both 226-pound Tank Younger and Larry Morris, a converted, 210-pound linebacker. The beef trust paid off by grinding out a 93-yard march good for a touchdown, scored by Younger from two yards out. Then San Francisco quarterback Y. A. Tittle, deep in San Francisco territory, elected to pass and Los Angeles' Andy Robustelli grabbed it on the 10-yard line for the touchdown that put the Rams ahead to stay.

Except for five intercepted passes and the clock, which halted Bear drives in both halves, Coach George Halas' team was literally unstoppable. They scored 8 out of the 15 times they got the ball, averaging nearly 7.7 yards per play on their touchdown marches, and never had to punt.

Ratterman emerged from the long shadow cast by Otto Graham to lead Cleveland to victory after the Giants got off to a 14-3 halftime lead. He passed to Ray Renfro for one touchdown, to Pete Brewster for the score that put Cleveland ahead and wrapped it up with a touchdown of his own on a four-yard jaunt around end.

Defensive end Gene Brito set off a 5-minute explosion that netted Washington 17 points against Philadelphia. He hit Ted Wegerst so hard the Eagle back lost the ball. Roy Barni picked it up and ran 18 yards for an easy touchdown.

Two minutes later Vic Janowicz kicked the first of two field goals and two minutes after that Ralph Guglielmi sneaked over from the Philadelphia one.

At halftime in Cleveland, the Browns had gained 29 yards rushing and 61 passing, Graham was in the dressing room with a mild concussion, and Cleveland was behind 14-3.

But Ratterman, who for years has warmed the bench while Otto played, stepped into the signal-calling role and produced the Browns' sixth straight victory against a single loss.

Completing 10 of 15 tosses for 163 yards and two touchdowns, Ratterman completely befuddled the Giant defenders in taking the lead 17-14, and then came up with an improvised picture play to ice the verdict.

Late in the game, with Giants trying to get the ball for a last-minute drive, Ratterman engineered a surge from his own 20 to the Giant four-yard line. There it stalled momentarily as two bangs at the line by big Ed Modzelewski failed to gain.

All the fans, Coach Paul Brown, all the Giants and nine of the Browns knew Ratterman was going to call on Big Mo again. But Mo and George had plotted a little something.

"Call the play for me to hit the line, but you keep the ball and go around end," Modzelewski whispered.

They didn't tell the other Browns, and as Mo crashed into the line 21 players piled up under the goal posts while Ratterman, after faking the handoff, tiptoed around the end, the ball on his hip, to go into the end zone without being seen or touched by an enemy.

Giovanelli Slated For Gotham Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Giovanelli, fighting his second main event in eight days, is a throwback to the era when a neighborhood favorite might "top" his hometown club program every week.

It took a break in the card for Giovanelli to get his chance. Danny was available when a cut lip forced Chico Vejar to withdraw from tonight's scheduled date here with Danny Jo Perez.

Giovanelli won a decision over Paoli Mellis of Italy in the same club last Monday, his first outing since late August.

Last Big College Football Splurge Coming Up Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 21-game schedule pops up this Saturday, the last big splurge for Ohio's college football teams. Only 13 contests remain after that.

Headlining the week's attractions is Iowa's invasion of Ohio State, with the Hawkeyes (3-3-1) trying to knock the haughty Bucks out of the top spot in the Big Ten.

Ohio State stands all alone as the only team unbeaten and untied in league play as the result of Saturday's 20-13 win over Indiana. The Bucks were romping over Michigan. The Bucks have four straight in the conference, and a 5-2 overall record.

Hopalong Cassidy, the red-haired

All-American halfback, again was the big gun for Coach Woody Hayes' stalwarts. "Hoppy" scored two second period touchdowns to match the entire Indiana output, one on a two-yard plunge and one on a three-yard which followed a whirling, dancing 46-yard dash. That gave Cassidy 33 touchdowns for his college career, two more than Red Grange of Illinois, and 11 for the current campaign. He's only three points back of the 201 scoring record for Ohio State set by Chic Harley more than 35 years ago.

While Cassidy was exploding his heroics at Columbus, Miami's Redskins edged Bowling Green 7-0 to annex their second straight Mid-American Conference crown. The Oxford team has won five straight in the league, no one else more than three.

Two Mid-American games, Bowling Green at Ohio U., and Marshall at Toledo, are on tap Saturday, but they have no bearing on the title. Also scheduled are six Ohio Conference frays, with Akron and Heidelberg in the big one, two in the Mid-Ohio League, and one in the new Presidents' Conference. Miami takes on Dayton, beaten Sunday by Holy Cross 13-7, in the No. 1 non-conference fray.

The Saturday schedule: Iowa at Ohio State, Bowling Green at Ohio U., Marshall at Toledo (N), Muskingum at Mount Union, Wooster at Hiram, Wittenberg at Ohio Wesleyan, Denison at Oberlin, Capital at Otterbein, Akron at Heidelberg (N), Defiance at Ohio Northern, Ashland at Bluffton, Case at John Carroll, Western Michigan at Western Reserve, Hardin-Simmons at Cincinnati, Miami at Dayton, Anderson at Central State, Wayneburg at Kent State, Marietta at Wilmington (N), Gustavus Adolphus at Youngstown (N), Baldwin Wallace at California (Pa.), Teachers, and Indiana Central at Findlay.

With the season waning, Ohio colleges have won 46, lost 35 and tied four games with out-of-state opponents, with the Buckeye clubs holding a 1,585 to 1,269 scoring edge.

Independents Open Season On Thursday

The Pickaway County Independent Basketball League swings back into action Thursday night at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Fans will recall the amazing action seen last season in these games, which feature many former high school stars from this area. Although DeMolay almost walked away in the first part, the race stiffened near the end and games were "spirited".

The independents will play on Thursday nights unless otherwise specified. Please consult the Sports Calendar each week for the correct schedule.

Each night's play will feature three games. The first contest will get under way at 7 p. m. each one taking approximately an hour to play. Doors will open at 6:30 p. m.

IN THE OPENING games, Jaycees will face Dunlaps, Pickaway Dairy will take on Stoutsville and defending champions DeMolay will meet Amanda.

Last season's action was witnessed by several large crowds. Good attendance is again expected.

Cassady Far Ahead In Scoring Contest

CHICAGO (AP)—Howard Cassady, Ohio State's All America halfback, is turning the Big Ten scoring race into a runaway.

The swirling Buckeye added two more touchdowns against Indiana to run his total points to 66 for the season, 26 more than runnerup Jerry Planutis of Michigan State. Cassady has 11 touchdowns to his credit while Planutis has 4 touchdowns and 16 extra points.

Charley Thomas of Wisconsin is third with 36 points followed by Michigan's Ron Kramer with 34.

Greenville Man Picked OSU Dad

COLUMBUS (AP)—Howard C. Schlagger, 39-year-old Greenville department store executive, will reign as Ohio State University's "Dad of Dads" at the OSU-Iowa football game Saturday.

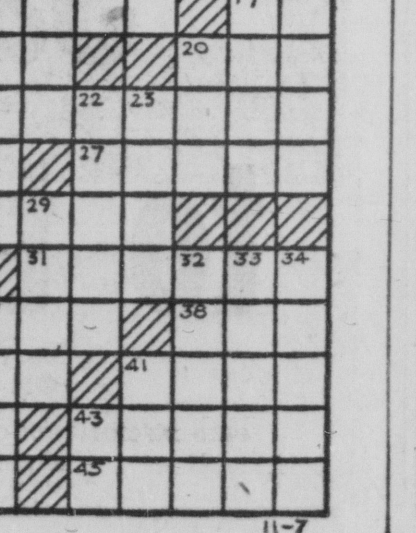

Schlagger's name was picked at random from a list of students' fathers. He will be the university's guest at the annual Dad's Day festivities Saturday.

His son, Dan, 18, is a freshman in the College of Commerce.

Bears, Rams To Clash In Tell-Tale Tilt

West Coast Leaders Face 'Natural' In Duel With Chicagoans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Commissioner Bert Bell, whose many duties for the national football league include making up the schedule, has come up with an authentic "natural."

The commissioner had no way of foreseeing it, when he drew up the schedule long before the season, but he's got the Los Angeles Rams, Western Conference leaders, down to play Chicago's ram-raging Bears next Sunday. The Rams, sparked by a new backfield combination, rallied in the second half to defeat San Francisco 27-14 Sunday and hold their conference lead.

But they'll have to go all out next Sunday to hang onto it against the Bears, who crushed Green Bay 52-31 Sunday for their fourth successive victory. The Bears' 4-3 mark, shared by Baltimore, leaves them one game behind Los Angeles' 5-2.

The Eastern Conference "race," meanwhile, became more like a Cleveland romp as the Browns, paced by George Ratterman, rallied in the second half for a 24-14 victory over New York and Washington slapped down Philadelphia 34-21. Washington's 4-3 record leaves the "Skins tied with Chicago's Cardinals 27-13 Saturday night. Both trail Cleveland by two games with five to play.

Baltimore fell out of a Western Conference first-place tie with Los Angeles Saturday night as Detroit hung up its first victory of the year by a 24-14 count.

With his team trailing 14-3 at the half, Ram Coach Sid Gillman gambled by sending out a backfield that included both 226-pound Tank Younger and Larry Morris, a converted, 210-pound linebacker. The beef trust paid off by grinding out a 93-yard march good for a touchdown, scored by Younger from two yards out. Then San Francisco quarterback Y. A. Tittle, deep in San Francisco territory, elected to pass and Los Angeles' Andy Robustelli grabbed it on the 10-yard line for the touchdown that put the Rams ahead to stay.

Except for five intercepted passes and the clock, which halted Bear drives in both halves, Coach George Halas' team was literally unstoppable. They scored 8 out of the 15 times they got the ball, averaging nearly 7.7 yards per play on their touchdown marches, and never had to punt.

Ratterman emerged from the long shadow cast by Otto Graham to lead Cleveland to victory after the Giants got off to a 14-3 halftime lead. He passed to Ray Renfro for one touchdown, to Pete Brewster for the score that put Cleveland ahead and wrapped it up with a touchdown of his own on a four-yard jaunt around end.

Defensive end Gene Brito set off a 5-minute explosion that netted Washington 17 points against Philadelphia. He hit Ted Weger so hard the Eagle lost the ball. Roy Barni picked it up and ran 18 yards for an easy touchdown.

Two minutes later Vic Janowicz kicked the first of two field goals and two minutes after that Ralph Guglielmi sneaked over from the Philadelphia one.

At halftime in Cleveland, the Browns had gained 29 yards rushing and 61 passing, Graham was in the dressing room with a mild concussion, and Cleveland was behind 14-3.

But Ratterman, who for years has warmed the bench while Otto played, stepped into the signal-calling role and produced the Browns' sixth straight victory against a single loss.

Completing 10 of 15 tosses for 163 yards and two touchdowns, Ratterman completely befuddled the Giant defenders in taking the lead 17-14, and then came up with an improvised picture play to ice the verdict.

Late in the game, with Giants trying to get the ball for a last-minute drive, Ratterman engineered a surge from his own 20 to the Giant four-yard line. There it stalled momentarily as two bangs at the line by big Ed Modzelewski failed to gain.

All the fans, Coach Paul Brown, all the Giants and nine of the Browns knew Ratterman was going to call on Big Mo again. But Mo and George had plotted a little something.

"Call the play for me to hit the line, but you keep the ball and go around end," Modzelewski whispered.

They didn't tell the other Browns, and as Mo crashed into the line 21 players piled up under the goal posts while Ratterman, after faking the handoff, tiptoed around the end, the ball on his hip, to go into the end zone without being seen or touched by an enemy.

Last Big College Football Splurge Coming Up Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 21-game schedule pops up this Saturday, the last big splurge for Ohio's college football teams. Only 13 contests remain after that.

Headlining the week's attractions is Iowa's invasion of Ohio State, with the Hawkeyes (3-3-1) trying to knock the haughty Bucks out of the top spot in the Big Ten. Ohio State stands all alone as the only team unbeaten and untied in league play as the result of Saturday's 20-13 win over Indiana, while Illinois was romping over Michigan. The Bucks have four straight in the conference, and a 5-2 overall record.

Hopalong Cassidy, the red-haired

All-American halfback, again was the big gun for Coach Woody Hayes' stalwarts. "Hoppy" scored two second period touchdowns to match the entire Indiana output, one on a two-yard plunge and one on a three-yarder which followed a whirling, dancing 46-yard dash.

That gave Cassidy 33 touchdowns for his college career, two more than Red Grange of Illinois, and 11 for the current campaign. He's only three points back of the 201 scoring record for Ohio State set by Chic Harley more than 35 years ago.

While Cassidy was exploding his heroics at Columbus, Miami's Redskins edged Bowling Green 7-0 to annex their second straight Mid-American Conference crown. The Oxford team has won five straight in the league, no one else more than three.

Two Mid-American games, Bowling Green at Ohio U., and Marshall at Toledo, are on tap Saturday, but they have no bearing on the title. Also scheduled are six Ohio Conference frays, with Akron and Heidelberg in the big one, two in the Mid-Ohio League, and one in the new Presidents' Conference. Miami takes on Dayton, beaten Sunday by Holy Cross 13-7, in the No. 1 non-conference fray.

The Saturday schedule:
Iowa at Ohio State, Bowling Green at Ohio U., Marshall at Toledo (N), Muskingum at Mount Union, Wooster at Hiram, Wittenberg at Ohio Wesleyan, Denison at Oberlin, Capital at Otterbein, Akron at Heidelberg (N), Defiance at Ohio Northern, Ashland at Bluffton, Case at John Carroll, Western Michigan at Western Reserve, Hardin-Simmons at Cincinnati, Miami at Dayton, Anderson at Central State, Wayneburg at Kent State, Marietta at Wilmington (N), Gustavus Adolphus at Youngstown (N), Baldwin Wallace at California (Pa.), Teachers, and Indiana Central at Findlay.

With the season waning, Ohio colleges have won 46, lost 35 and tied four games with out-of-state opponents, with the Buckeye clubs holding a 1,585 to 1,269 scoring edge.

Independents Open Season On Thursday

The Pickaway County Independent Basketball League swings back into action Thursday night at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Fans will recall the amazing action seen last season in these games, which feature many former high school stars from this area. Although DeMolay almost walked away in the first part, the race stiffened near the end and games were "spirited".

The independents will play on Thursday nights unless otherwise specified. Please consult the Sports Calendar each week for the correct schedule.

Each night's play will feature three games. The first contest will get under way at 7 p. m. each one taking approximately an hour to play. Doors will open at 6:30 p. m.

IN THE OPENING games, Jaycees will face Dunlaps, Pickaway Dairy will take on Stoutsville and defending champions DeMolay will meet Amanda.

Last season's action was witnessed by several large crowds. Good attendance is again expected.

Cassady Far Ahead In Scoring Contest

CHICAGO (AP)—Howard Cassady, Ohio State's All America halfback, is turning the Big Ten scoring race into a runaway.

The swirling Buckeye added two more touchdowns against Indiana to run his total points to 66 for the season, 26 more than runnerup Jerry Plautius of Michigan State.

Cassady has 11 touchdowns to his credit while Plautius has 4 touchdowns and 16 extra points.

Charley Thomas of Wisconsin is third with 36 points followed by Michigan's Ron Kramer with 34.

Greenville Man Picked OSU Dad

COLUMBUS (AP)—Howard C. Schlagetter, 39-year-old Greenville department store executive, will reign as Ohio State University's "Dad of Dads" at the OSU-Iowa football game Saturday.

Schlagetter's name was picked at random from a list of students' fathers. He will be the university's guest at the annual Dad's Day festivities Saturday.

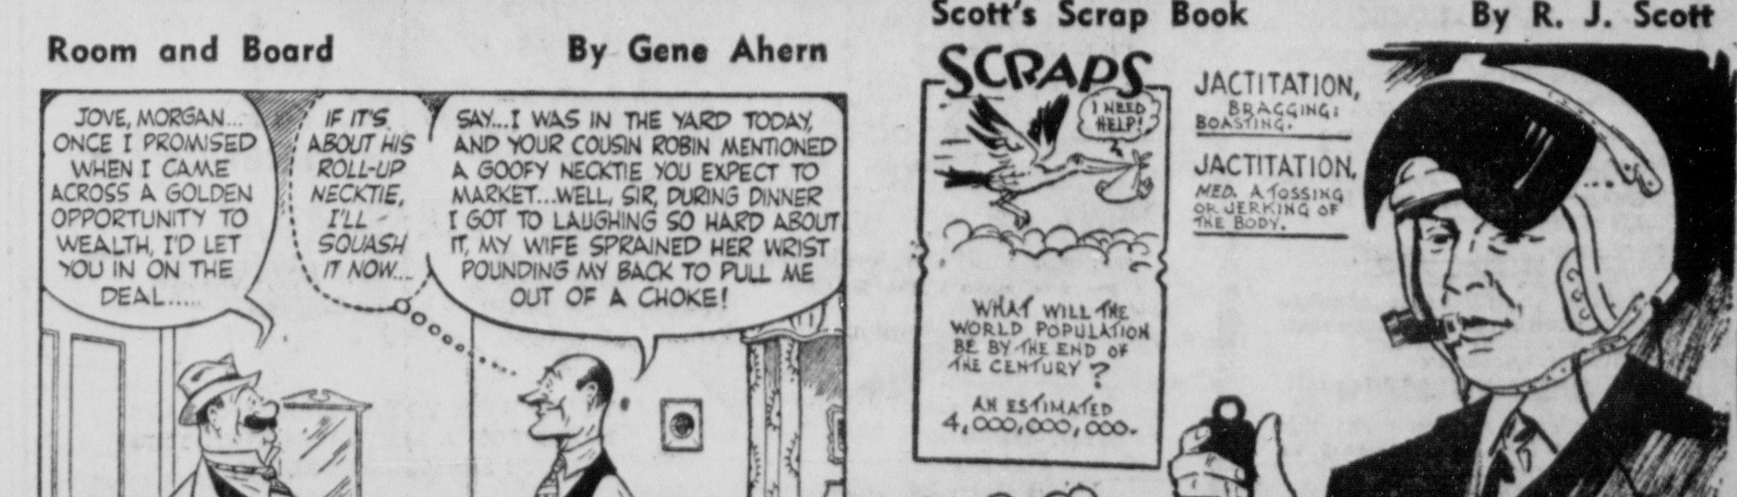

His son, Dan, 18, is a freshman in the College of Commerce.

Giovanelli Slated For Gotham Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Giovanelli, fighting his second main event in eight days, is a throwback to the era when a neighborhood favorite might "top" his hometown club program every week.

It took a break in the card for Giovanelli to get his chance. Danny was available when a cut lip forced Chico Vejar to withdraw from tonight's scheduled date here with Danny Jo Perez. Giovanelli won a decision over Paolo Melis of Italy in the same club last Monday, his first outing since late August.

Greater Net Income Realized From Cows Freshened In Fall

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Dairy cows which freshen in the Fall generally return a higher net income than those which freshen in the Spring. The difference may be as much as $40 or $50 a year, according to H. R. Donoho, extension specialist in dairy science at Ohio State University.

This does not mean, Donoho explains, that Fall-freshened cows produce more milk. It means they are producing when milk prices generally are most favorable. Another advantage is that labor demands for other work usually are less through the winter months.

Scheduling cows to freshen in the Fall requires some foresight and planning, Donoho notes. Under a Fall-freshening program, November, December, January and February should be the heavy breeding months. About one-fourth of the cows in Ohio dairy herds are replaced each year and many of these replacements are first calf heifers bred and raised on the farm. These heifers are the logical place to start building a fall-freshening program, Donoho says.

The extension dairy specialist points out that research indicates little difference between conception rates of heifers bred to freshen from two years to thirty months of age. A heifer fifteen months old, bred in November, would calve in August.

This allows her to freshen a little early in the Fall, Donoho says, but it gives her ample time to remain in the desirable freshening bracket after becoming a mature cow. By freshening extra early in the Fall as a 2-year-old, time is allowed for repeat services during her later reproductive cycles.

To help get cows on a Fall-freshening schedule, Donoho suggests dairymen (1) check cows closely for heat periods at regular intervals and (2) breed only cows that have been fresh for at least fifty days.

Dr. Fred E. Deatherage, of Ohio State University and Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, reporting on research on meat processing, received unusual acclaim at the recent International Conference on Use of Antibiotics in Agriculture, held in Washington, D. C. under sponsorship of the National Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Deatherage, in cooperation with L. E. Kunkle and others in the Animal Science Department, has been investigating use of aureomycin as a means of preserving beef. Injected in small dosage into the blood stream at slaughter, the meat is held satisfactorily at room temperature without spoilage and becomes tenderized immediately.

A Washington dispatch says "This was the most revolutionary announcement made at the conference." It continued: "A dramatic increase in the world's food supply through use of tiny quantities of antibiotics was forecast."

The use of antibiotics is not a substitute for refrigeration but a supplement to it.

Director L. L. Rummell, of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, says foreign countries have been especially interested—particularly England and Cuba, where refrigeration is not available as in the United States.

Cull those poorly-developed

young pullets at housing time, advises Emil Malinovsky, extension poultryman of Ohio State University.

If these birds are taken from the flock before it is housed, egg returns will be greater this Winter, the extension poultryman notes. Farmers who have good young flocks coming on probably will find it unprofitable also to keep old birds which have fallen below 50 percent production, Malinovsky says.

He points out that culling is a constant job, and injured and diseased birds should be removed from the flock as soon as they are found.

A good strain of high-production pullets in good health and condition need not be culled for the first eight to ten months of lay. Heavy culling of a high-production flock, according to Malinovsky, may remove birds which would be profitable under proper management.

Other information on culling, including illustrations, is contained in Extension Bulletin 326 entitled "Keep the Layers—Sell the Loafers." Copies may be obtained from county extension agents.

Educator Sees U.S. Fund Need

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. Dwight L. Arnold, Kent State University professor and Ohio Education Assn. president, says education is a national problem and should be backed with federal funds.

Arnold predicted Ohio will seek federal aid for its schools. He spoke yesterday on a Columbus radio-TV program here with state Rep. William L. Manahan (R-De-fiance). Manahan said Ohio can financially meet its own school needs.

The CIO vs. the State of Ohio

by Raymond Moley

ONCE more, as in Taft's campaign for the Senate in 1950, the state of Ohio is the scene of a bitter battle in the labor bosses' war for the political and economic domination of the nation. This fight means much more to us all than speculation about the Presidential aspirations of a lot of fellows named Joe. It concerns not who is to hold office for a term or two, but who is to make the laws under which we shall live in the long future.

Fresh from its victory over Ford and GM, Walter Reuther's UAW-CIO attempted to force the legislature of Ohio to pass a law which would not only legalize the payment by the automobile companies of supplementary compensation, but would increase the maximum unemployment compensation from $30 weekly for 26 weeks to $59 for 39 weeks, a rate equaled among the states only by Nevada. It would have added something like $47 million to the state's unemployment payments. It would have raised the state unemployment benefit to 60 per cent of the wages, thus lifting from the Ford company (for example) all but 5 per cent of its obligation under its contract in the first four weeks.

Governor Lausche characterized this demand as "fantastic," and the legislature asserted its constitutional responsibility by writing its own law. It raised the Ohio rate to a figure which ranks Ohio fourth among the states of the union.

The CIO thereupon used the Ohio Initiative and Referendum law to put on the November ballot its proposal which the legislature had rejected.

More important to the CIO than the greatly increased payments by the state is the provision in the proposal which would legalize the payment of supplementary compensation without deducting such payments from the state's share. To win this change in the law in Ohio is vital to the consummation of Reuther's guaranteed annual wage. For the contracts with the companies provide that before the companies begin their payments, there must be this change in the law or executive rulings in states in which two thirds of the affected workers are located. Michigan, already accounted for, has 56 per cent, and Ohio 11 per cent. Thus, if the drive on Ohio should fail, the CIO would have to win at least two other states by June 1, 1957, or the GAW plan terminates.

This contest raises these deeply significant issues of political and economic principle:

1—If the CIO wins this contest, it means that a shotgun agreement between a powerful union and a few companies pushes aside and supplants a pattern of law established after long and careful consideration by the constitutional and responsible government of a state. Also, if Ohio is won, the CIO will impose its will upon other industrial states. Thus a nation already dependent, so far as price is concerned, for its means of transportation upon private agreements between a mighty union and a few companies, is threatened with the imposition of laws written by Reuther's lawyers and enforced by stooges elected by the political machines of labor bosses.

2—This means that, with Michigan already securely in its grip, the CIO would gain another great industrial state and thus acquire the mobilized power to march on into other states. For the Reuther formula is first to win over company after company and then translate economic power into political domination of state after state. This is the European concept of the strategic minority.

3—This contest, if won, would demonstrate how a vast interstate private interest with immense campaign funds can invade individual states and control their elections.

4—On the economic side, it would mean that an unemployed person would under this plan receive more for not working than the legally established minimum wage, plus exemption from income tax.

5—The proposal is highly discriminatory. A million workers, at least, would be denied this benefit but would contribute through higher prices to others. An entire state would be subject to a levy for a minority which happens to have interstate power and money behind it.

Deatherage, of Ohio State University and Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, reporting on research on meat processing, received unusual acclaim at the recent International Conference on Use of Antibiotics in Agriculture, held in Washington, D. C. under sponsorship of the National Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Deatherage, in cooperation with L. E. Kunkle and others in the Animal Science Department, has been investigating use of aureomycin as a means of preserving beef. Injected in small dosage into the blood stream at slaughter, the meat is held satisfactorily at room temperature without spoilage and becomes tenderized immediately.

A Washington dispatch says "This was the most revolutionary announcement made at the conference." It continued: "A dramatic increase in the world's food supply through use of tiny quantities of antibiotics was forecast."

The use of antibiotics is not a substitute for refrigeration but a supplement to it.

Director L. L. Rummell, of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, says foreign countries have been especially interested—particularly England and Cuba, where refrigeration is not available as in the United States.

Cull those poorly-developed

young pullets at housing time, advises Emil Malinovsky, extension poultryman of Ohio State University.

If these birds are taken from the flock before it is housed, egg returns will be greater this Winter, the extension poultryman notes. Farmers who have good young flocks coming on probably will find it unprofitable also to keep old birds which have fallen below 50 percent production, Malinovsky says.

He points out that culling is a constant job, and injured and diseased birds should be removed from the flock as soon as they are found.

A good strain of high-production pullets in good health and condition need not be culled for the first eight to ten months of lay. Heavy culling of a high-production flock, according to Malinovsky, may remove birds which would be profitable under proper management.

Other information on culling, including illustrations, is contained in Extension Bulletin 326 entitled "Keep the Layers—Sell the Loafers." Copies may be obtained from county extension agents.

Educator Sees U.S. Fund Need

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. Dwight L. Arnold, Kent State University professor and Ohio Education Assn. president, says education is a national problem and should be backed with federal funds.

Arnold predicted Ohio will seek federal aid for its schools. He spoke yesterday on a Columbus radio-TV program here with state Rep. William L. Manahan (R-De-fiance). Manahan said Ohio can financially meet its own school needs.

At least two district men participated in a gigantic amphibious exercise recently completed by Uncle Sam's naval forces on the southeastern coast of the United States.

Local men who took part in the maneuvers included: John D. McGhee Jr., quarter-master first class, USN, a son of John D. McGhee of 7900 Railroad St., Orient. Young McGhee is serving aboard the USS Olmstead, an attack transport.

Mack G. Moore Jr., a hospital corpsman first class, USN, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Moore of 338 E. Mill St. Young Moore, a husband of the former Miss Miriam L. Brown of E. Franklin St., is with the 2nd Marine Division, based at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

The exercise, involving 80 ships, 347 aircraft and 42,000 Navy and Marine Corps personnel, began October 19 and ended with an amphibious assault on Onslow Beach, N. C., last Wednesday.

Supported by ships of the Atlantic Fleet, the Marines were landed by helicopters, surface craft, sea planes, land planes and submarines. They were opposed by a simulated enemy force of Marine "aggressor" troops.

The maneuver provided realistic training in all phases of amphibious warfare, including the simulated use of offensive and defensive atomic weapons.

Reds Winding Up Opening Argument

CLEVELAND (AP)—Five defense attorneys will complete opening statements today for 11 accused Ohio Communist leaders, being tried on charges of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

The jury, selected after three days of battling in Federal District Court, already has heard opening statements in behalf of six defendants.

Perspective

The CIO vs. the State of Ohio

by Raymond Moley

ONCE more, as in Taft's campaign for the Senate in 1950, the state of Ohio is the scene of a bitter battle in the labor bosses' war for the political and economic domination of the nation. This fight means much more to us all than speculation about the Presidential aspirations of a lot of fellows named Joe. It concerns not who is to hold office for a term or two, but who is to make the laws under which we shall live in the long future.

Fresh from its victory over Ford and GM, Walter Reuther's UAW-CIO attempted to force the legislature of Ohio to pass a law which would not only legalize the payment by the automobile companies of supplementary compensation, but would increase the maximum unemployment compensation from $30 weekly for 26 weeks to $59 for 39 weeks, a rate equaled among the states only by Nevada. It would have added something like $47 million to the state's unemployment payments. It would have raised the state unemployment benefit to 60 per cent of the wages, thus lifting from the Ford company (for example) all but 5 per cent of its obligation under its contract in the first four weeks.

Governor Lausche characterized this demand as "fantastic," and the legislature asserted its constitutional responsibility by writing its own law. It raised the Ohio rate to a figure which ranks Ohio fourth among the states of the union.

The CIO thereupon used the Ohio Initiative and Referendum law to put on the November ballot its proposal which the legislature had rejected.

More important to the CIO than the greatly increased payments by the state is the provision in the proposal which would legalize the payment of supplementary compensation without deducting such payments from the state's share. To win this change in the law in Ohio is vital to the consummation of Reuther's guaranteed annual wage. For the contracts with the companies provide that before the companies begin their payments, there must be this change in the law or executive rulings in states in which two thirds of the affected workers are located. Michigan, already accounted for, has 56 per cent, and Ohio 11 per cent. Thus, if the drive on Ohio should fail, the CIO would have to win at least two other states by June 1, 1957, or the GAW plan terminates.

This contest raises these deeply significant issues of political and economic principle:

1—If the CIO wins this contest, it means that a shotgun agreement between a powerful union and a few companies pushes aside and supplants a pattern of law established after long and careful consideration by the constitutional and responsible government of a state. Also, if Ohio is won, the CIO will impose its will upon other industrial states. Thus a nation already dependent, so far as price is concerned, for its means of transportation upon private agreements between a mighty union and a few companies, is threatened with the imposition of laws written by Reuther's lawyers and enforced by stooges elected by the political machines of labor bosses.

2—This means that, with Michigan already secured in its grip, the CIO would gain another great industrial state and thus acquire the mobilized power to march on into other states. For the Reuther formula is first to win over company after company and then translate economic power into political domination of state after state. This is the European concept of the strategic minority.

3—This contest, if won, would demonstrate how a vast interstate private interest with immense campaign funds can invade individual states and control their elections.

4—On the economic side, it would mean that an unemployed person would under this plan receive more for not working than the legally established minimum wage, plus exemption from income tax.

5—The proposal is highly discriminatory. A million workers, at least, would be denied this benefit but would contribute through higher prices to others. An entire state would be subject to a levy for a minority which happens to have interstate power and money behind it.

PROPOSED LAW
To increase unemployment compensation benefits.
(Proposed by Initiative Petition)
A majority vote is necessary for passage.

The proposed unemployment compensation law provides for increased weekly benefits, increased dependency allowances, increased duration of benefits, places the burden of proof upon applicants, provides supplemental payments to claimants whose claims are delayed by the unreasonable action of employers, and provides that payments to a claimant under a guaranteed period wage plan shall not affect the weekly benefit amount of claimants under the unemployment compensation law of the State of Ohio.
